In laying down the great office to which the House of Commons has called me, I trust that I can hand down its traditions unimpaired. If I have been able to discharge my official duties with any degree of success, it is because I have received the help and support of all my colleagues for which I desire to express my sincere thanks.

Honourable Members of the Senate, and

Members of the House of Commons:

I have it in command to let you know that His Excellency the Governor General does not see fit to declare the causes of his summoning the present Parliament of Canada, until the Speaker of the House of Commons shall have been chosen according to Law, but this afternoon, at the hour of three-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, His Excellency will declare the causes of calling this Parliament.

Mr. Speaker reported, That when the House did attend His Excellency the Governor General this day in the Senate Chamber, His Excellency was pleased to make a speech to both Houses of Parliament, and to prevent mistakes, he had obtained a copy which he read to the House as follows:—

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I welcome you at a time when our country stands upon the threshold of a new era of prosperity. It will be for you, by your labours, to throw wide the door.

During the past year the grip of hard times has been broken. Conditions show marked improvement. Employment is increasing. Our trade is expanding. The national revenues are higher. These evidences of recovery attest the wisdom and efficacy of the measures you have taken. In these improved conditions, there may now successfully be carried forward those great tasks of reform upon which the well-being of this country depends.

In the anxious years through which you have passed, you have been the witnesses of grave defects and abuses in the capitalist system. Unemployment and want are the proof of these. Great changes are taking place about us. New conditions prevail. These require modifications in the capitalist system to enable that system more effectively to serve the people. Reform measures will therefore be submitted to you as part of a comprehensive plan designed to remedy the social and economic injustices now prevailing, and to ensure to all classes and to all parts of the country a greater degree of equality in the distribution of the benefits of the capitalist system.

Upon this plan you have made a beginning.

Reform measures approved by you at the last session of Parliament are already in successful operation. I observe with especial gratification the manner in which the Natural Products Marketing Act and the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act are already serving the great and urgent needs of agriculture and other primary industries. You will be invited to consider amendments to these Acts which will extend the sphere of their usefulness. The organization of the Bank of Canada is nearing completion, and it will commence operations at an early date. My Ministers are convinced of the value of this institution as an instrument of national policy to direct the better utilization of the credit resources of Canada.

Legislation enacted at the last session of Parliament respecting the metallic coverage of our note issue and the initiation of the public works program have eased credit conditions and stimulated business enterprise.

Better provision will be made for the security of the worker during unemployment, in sickness, and in old age.

The measures taken respecting public and private debts have done much to lighten the burden of the tax-payer and to improve the position of the farming community. My Ministers are now engaged upon a survey of the national debt structure to determine what action may be practicable and advisable to effect further improvement in it.

You will be invited to enact legislation to extend existing facilities for long term and intermediate credit.

During the past year, wider markets for our products have been secured. A supplementary Trade Agreement has been negotiated with the Republic of France. The Trade Agreement with Austria has been renewed. Negotiations with the Government of Poland, which it is hoped will lead to the conclusion of a comprehensive commercial convention, are in progress. It is the policy of my Ministers to pursue vigorously every opportunity by which our world trade may be increased. The policy of my Government of consolidating and expanding Empire markets will be vigorously pursued.

A Royal Commission has been appointed to advise my Ministers upon the steps which should be taken to implement the findings of the Duncan Commission.

Pursuant to the Agreement made between the Government of Canada and the Governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta, Royal Commissions have been appointed to determine what, if any, compensation is payable to these Provinces in respect to the period since 1905, in which their natural resources were under the control of the Government of Canada.

My Ministers are co-operating with the Governments of the Prairie Provinces in a survey of those areas which have been stricken by recurring periods of drought, for the purpose of determining what steps may be taken to provide a permanent solution to this grave problem.

Action will be taken to ameliorate the conditions of labour, to provide a better and more assured standard of living for the worker, to secure minimum wages and a maximum working week, and to alter the incidence of taxation so that it will more directly conform to capacity to pay.

You will be invited to enact measures designed to safeguard the consumer and primary producer against unfair trading practices and to regulate, in the public interest, concentrations in production and distribution.

You will be invited also to enact measures to provide the investing public with means to protect itself against exploitation.

You will be invited to enact legislation to amend and consolidate the Acts relating to Patents and Inventions.

My Government has under consideration the adoption, throughout the penitentiaries of Canada, of a system similar to that which is known in England as the "Borstal System", and is making investigations as to its operation.

My Ministers have under preparation a plan for the reorganization of the Government services so that they may be better equipped to discharge the onerous duties which devolve upon them. You will be invited to consider measures, the purpose of which will be to authorize the first stage in this plan of reorganization.

You will be invited to authorize the constitution of an Economic Council, the functions of which will be to advise my Ministers upon all economic questions which concern the national welfare.

The four hundredth anniversary of the landing of Jacques Cartier was fittingly commemorated in the chief centres connected with his voyages of discovery. Representatives of the Governments of the United Kingdom, France, and the United States, took part. The celebration and the visit of a large and distinguished mission from France knit new bonds of understanding.

The maintenance of peace and the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends, have been the constant concern of my Ministers. There are definite signs that the political tension and unrest in Europe which have intensified rivalry in armaments and economic restrictions, are lessening, largely as a result of the renewed determination to make use of the agencies of conciliation and co-operation provided by the League of Nations. It will be the object of my Government to support this policy and to work towards the progressive reduction of armaments and the stabilization of international economic relations.

The year 1935 will be memorable for all subjects of His Gracious Majesty King George V. On the 6th of May, we shall celebrate, throughout the British Empire, the 25th Anniversary of His Majesty's Accession to the Throne. On that day, all of us will wish to unite in an act of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for having thus preserved His Majesty, whose wisdom and devotion to the well-being of his subjects have proved so inestimable a blessing. My Ministers are considering means, shortly to be announced, by which the people of Canada may be afforded an opportunity of suitably commemorating this great landmark in the history of our Empire, and of testifying their loyal devotion to their beloved Sovereign.

Members of the House of Commons:

The public accounts for the last fiscal year, and the Estimates for the coming year, will be submitted to you at an early date.

Honourable Members of the Senate:Members of the House of Commons:

I know you will be diligent and resolute in the country's service. Though the problems which confront you are, in essence and degree, far different from those which in the past you overcame, I know that these present ones you will surmount with the same spirit of faith and determination which has carried Canada to a forward place among the nations.

May God give you strength to support, by your unremitting labours, this great movement towards happier days.

On motion of Mr. Bennett, it was ordered, That the Speech of His Excellency the Governor General to both Houses of Parliament, be taken into consideration on Monday next.

On motion of Mr. Bennett, a Special Committee was appointed to prepare and report with all convenient speed, Lists of Members to compose the Select Standing Committees of this House under Standing Order 63, said Committee to be composed of Messrs.: Rhodes, Dupré, Simpson (Algoma West), Stewart (Edmonton West), and Casgrain.

Mr. Bennett, delivered a message from His Excellency the Governor General, which was read by Mr. Speaker, as follows:—

BESSBOROUGH:

The Governor General transmits to the House of Commons a certified copy of an approved Minute of Council appointing the Rt. Honourable Sir George H. Perley, Minister without Portfolio; the Honourable D. M. Sutherland, Minister of Pensions and National Health; the Honourable T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior and Superintendent General of Indian Affairs; and the Honourable M. Dupré, Solicitor General, to act with the Speaker of the House of Commons as Commissioners for the purposes and under the provisions of Chapter 145 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, intituled: "An Act respecting the House of Commons."

Government House,

Ottawa, 17th January, 1935.

Mr. Speaker laid before the House the Report of the Joint Librarians of Parliament, which is as follows:—

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons,

The Joint Librarians of Parliament have the honour to submit their report on the Library for 1934.

Work on the Supplementary Catalogue of books donated and purchased during 1934 has been steadily pushed and the Catalogue will be issued at an earlier date than usual.

There has been an increase in the number of books of various kinds deposited in the Library of Parliament in accordance with the provisions of the Copyright Act. Two hundred and ten volumes were received during 1934.

The first Supplement of the Oxford Dictionary was procured during the year. The first volume of this great Dictionary was published in 1888, and the tenth and last volume not until 1928. The number of new words added to the current language since 1888 is indicated by the fact that the Supplement contains more than eight hundred pages.

During the latter part of 1934 an unusually large number of important biographical and historical books have been published, and purchased for the Library.

Amongst other interesting works secured by the Library is a volume dealing with the Royal Commission on the Losses and Services of the American Loyalists, 1783 to 1785, being the notes of Daniel Parker Coke, one of the Commissioners. The book, edited by Hugh Edward Egerton, was only issued in the shape of a very small edition, and is very rare.

Amongst donations of interest should be mentioned the Catalogue of Bronzes forming the collection of Mr. F. J. Nettlefold of London, England, and also the first volume of the Catalogue Raisonne of the pictures and drawings in Mr. Nettlefold's possession. The Catalogue contains probably the most important series of reproductions of British landscape pictures yet executed.

The reduced appropriation for the purchase of books made effective in 1932, has necessarily affected some sections of the Library. Nevertheless, every effort has been made to acquire all new publications dealing with such subjects as unemployment insurance, and important economic and financial matters.

Respectfully submitted.

M. BURRELL,

FELIX DESROCHERS,

Joint Librarians.

Library of Parliament,
Ottawa, January 17th, 1935.

On motion of Mr. Bennett the House then adjourned at 5.05 o'clock, p.m., until to-morrow, at 3 o'clock, p.m.

JAMES L. BOWMAN,

Speaker.

By Mr. Lacroix:—Order of the House for a copy of all correspondence exchanged between the Government and James B. Barry & Company of Oil City U.S.A., during the years 1931, 1932, 1933, and 1934.

By Mr. Michaud:—Order of the House for a copy of all correspondence, letters, telegrams, reports and other documents from June 1, 1932, relating to the dismissal, resignation or change of the postmaster of Iroquois, Madawaska county, New Brunswick.

By Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), for Mr. Casgrain:—Order of the House for a copy of all correspondence, letters, telegrams, and other documents, exchanged between the Department of Marine, and all other persons, in connection with the dismissal of Mr. Napoléon Bhérer, lighthouse keeper, at La Malbaie in the county of Charlevoix, and the nomination of his successor, since the 1st of January, 1934, to date.

Mr. Woodsworth, seconded by Miss Macphail, moved,—That, in the opinion of this House, a special committee should be set up to study and report on the best method by which the British North America Act may be amended so that while safeguarding the existing rights of racial and religious minorities and legitimate provincial claims to autonomy, the Dominion Government may be given adequate power to deal effectively with urgent economic problems which are essentially national in scope.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

Mr. Reid, seconded by Mr. Hanson (Skeena), moved,—Whereas, great numbers of Canadian Seamen on the Pacific Coast of British Columbia are out of employment and in many cases destitute;

And whereas, owners of ships and vessels of Canadian Registry on the Pacific Coast of British Columbia give employment in large measure to seamen, cooks and engineers of Oriental origin;

And whereas, other countries give greater consideration to the employment of their own nationals on ships and vessels belonging to their own country;

And whereas, the Canadian Government grant large sums of money to the owners of ships and vessels by way of subsidies;

And whereas, it is desirable that every encouragement be given for the employment of officers, seamen, cooks and engineers of white Canadian citizenship in preference to those of Oriental origin on all Canadian owned and registered ships and vessels;

Therefore be it Resolved.—That, in the opinion of this House, the Government take such steps as will provide for employment of greater numbers of white Canadian citizens on all ships and vessels of Canadian ownership and registry, the owners of which receive grants of money from the public treasury of Canada.

And a Debate arising thereon;

Mr. Manion, seconded by Mr. Gordon, moved in amendment thereto: That all the words after "That" in the last paragraph be deleted and the following substituted therefor: "the resolution be referred to the Standing Committee on Industrial and International Relations."

After further Debate thereon, the question being put on the said proposed amendment; it was agreed to.

And the question being put on the main motion as amended, it was agreed to.

Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Veniot, moved,—That, in the opinion of this House, the Canadian Farm Loan Act, and the Canadian Farm Loan Amendment Act, 1934, should be so amended as to make the rate charged on Farm Loan Mortgages 4 per cent per annum instead of the rate now charged.

Mr. Guthrie raised a Point of Order on the ground that this Notice of Motion anticipated a Government Notice of Motion standing on the Order Paper in the name of the Minister of Finance respecting the rate of interest charged on Farm Loan Mortgages.

Mr. Speaker upheld the Point of Order and declared the said proposed motion out of Order.

Mr. Munn, seconded by Mr. Reid, moved,—Whereas, the attention of this House has been drawn by the Royal Commission to inquire into railways and transportation in Canada to the urgent necessity which exists for an early consideration of the capital structure of the Canadian Railways (Section 84-87 of that report):

And whereas, that Commission recognized that a very substantial part of the money invested in the railways comprised within the Canadian National Railway system must be regarded as lost, and that its capital liabilities should be heavily written down, although the said Royal Commission did not deem the time opportune when making the said report to deal with this important matter, but suggested that the same receive early consideration by the Board of Trustees;

And whereas, a Board of Trustees has been appointed by the Government;

Therefore be it Resolved,—That, in the opinion of this House, it is of vital importance that the attention of the Board of Trustees of the Canadian National Railways be directed to this matter, and that this House deems it highly desirable that the said Board of Trustees shall consider this question and report thereon with the least possible delay as being of vital and primary importance in the interests of all concerned.

After Debate thereon, the said motion was, by leave of the House, withdrawn.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Honourable the Speaker, the Honourable Senators Aylesworth (Sir Allen), Beaubien, Chapais, Fauteux, Gillis, Gordon, Griesbach, Hatfield, Laird, Lemieux, Lewis, Logan, McLennan, Prevost, Taylor and Wilson (Rockcliffe), have been appointed a Committee to assist the Honourable the Speaker in the direction of the Library of Parliament, so far as the interests of the Senate are concerned, and to act on behalf of the Senate as Members of a Joint Committee of both Houses on the said Library.

Also,—A Message informing this House that the Honourable Senators Aylesworth (Sir Allen), Buchanan, Chapais, Dennis, Donnelly, Green, Harmer, Hatfield, Hocken, Horsey, Lewis, McDonald (Shediac), McLean, McLennan, Moraud, Parent, Pope, Prevost, Taylor, White (Inkerman) and White (Pembroke), have been appointed a Committee to superintend the printing of the Senate during the present Session, and to act on behalf of the Senate as Members of a Joint Committee of both Houses on the subject of the printing of Parliament.

And also,—A Message informing this House that the Honourable the Speaker, the Honourable Senators Hardy, Logan, McMeans, Michener, Tanner and Taylor, have been appointed a Committee to assist the Honourable the Speaker in the direction of the Restaurant of Parliament, so far as the interests of the Senate are concerned, and to act on behalf of the Senate as Members of a Joint Committee of both Houses on the said Restaurant.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Guthrie, for Mr. Rhodes, moved, That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

Mr. Mackenzie King, seconded by Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), moved in amendment thereto: That all the words in the motion after the word "That" be struck out and the following substituted therefor:—

"this House is of the opinion that the immediate consideration of present conditions of unemployment and the introduction of measures of social and industrial reform should not be delayed or postponed by a consideration of supply in advance of the consideration of Government policies with respect to unemployment and the introduction of measures with respect to social and industrial reform."

And a Debate arising thereon, and continuing;

At eleven o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 7, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

And whereas, the conditions which prevail in this Dominion and throughout the world, with the growing burden of debt, the general stagnation of business and the anomaly of widespread poverty and privation in the midst of an abundance hitherto unknown, would point to the inevitable conclusion that the consideration which has been given to the adoption of those scientific principles should now be implemented by definite action.

Mr. Veniot, seconded by Mr. Duff, moved,—Whereas the deep-sea fishermen of the Atlantic Coast, and especially those in the Northumberland Straits, the Baie de Chaleur and Gulf of St. Lawrence, are seriously hampered in their work by lack of means of obtaining an adequate and seasonal supply of bait, especially for the cod fishing branch of the industry;

And whereas it is beyond the means of private initiative to provide the necessary facilities for the procuring and distribution of such bait, as well as its conservation.

And whereas the establishment of such facilities at central points would greatly enhance the importance of the fishing industry by an increased catch;

And whereas such increase in the industry would provide work for a very large number of fishermen who are now idle because of the difficulty in securing bait;

Therefore be it Resolved, —That, in the opinion of this House, it is expedient that the Government should take into immediate consideration the establishment at important centres of a number of refrigerator plants of such dimensions as the Department of Fisheries may consider adequate to meet the needs of the industry, and at the same time give consideration to the best method of distribution of the bait required.

And a Debate arising thereon;

Mr. Stirling, seconded by Mr. Stewart (Leeds) moved in amendment thereto: That the question be referred to the Standing Committee on Marine and Fisheries.

And the Debate continuing, the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Veniot, adjourned.

On motion of Mr. Bennett the House adjourned at 10.58 o'clock, p.m., until to-morrow, at 3 o'clock, p.m.

(d) The term "home trade vessel" means a vessel engaged in trade between a country and the ports of a neighbouring country within geographical limits determined by the national law.

Article 3

Articles of agreement shall be signed both by the shipowner or his representative and by the seaman. Reasonable facilities to examine the articles of agreement before they are signed shall be given to the seaman and also to his adviser.

The seaman shall sign the agreement under conditions which shall be prescribed by national law in order to ensure adequate supervision by the competent public authority.

The foregoing provisions shall be deemed to have been fulfilled if the competent authority certifies that the provisions of the agreement have been laid before it in writing and have been confirmed both by the shipowner or his representative and by the seaman.

National law shall make adequate provision to ensure that the seaman has understood the agreement.

The agreement shall not contain anything which is contrary to the provisions of national law or of this Convention.

National law shall prescribe such further formalities and safeguards in respect of the completion of the agreement as may be considered necessary for the protection of the interests of the shipowner and of the seaman.

Article 4

Adequate measures shall be taken in accordance with national law for ensuring that the agreement shall not contain any stipulation by which the parties purport to contract in advance to depart from the ordinary rules as to jurisdiction over the agreement.

This Article shall not be interpreted as excluding a reference to arbitration.

Article 5

Every seaman shall be given a document containing a record of his employment on board the vessel. The form of the document, the particulars to be recorded and the manner in which such particulars are to be entered in it shall be determined by national law.

The document shall not contain any statement as to the quality of the seaman's work or as to his wages.

Article 6

The agreement may be made either for a definite period or for a voyage or, if permitted by national law, for an indefinite period.

The agreement shall state clearly the respective rights and obligations of each of the parties.

It shall in all cases contain the following particulars:

(1) The surname and other names of the seaman, the date of his birth or his age, and his birthplace:

- (2) The place at which and date on which the agreement was completed;
- (3) The name of the vessel or vessels on board which the seaman undertakes to serve;
- (4) The number of the crew of the vessel, if required by national law;
- (5) The voyage or voyages to be undertaken, if this can be determined at the time of making the agreement;
- (6) The capacity in which the seaman is to be employed;
- (7) If possible, the place and date at which the seaman is required to report on board for service;
- (8) The scale of provisions to be supplied to the seaman, unless some alternative system is provided for by national law;
- (9) The amount of his wages;
- (10) The determination of the agreement and the conditions thereof, that is to say:
 - (a) if the agreement has been made for a definite period, the date fixed for its expiry;
 - (b) if the agreement has been made for a voyage, the port of destination and the time which has to expire after arrival before the seaman shall be discharged;
 - (c) if the agreement has been made for an indefinite period, the conditions which shall entitle either party to rescind it, as well as the required period of notice for rescission; provided that such period shall not be less for the ship-owner than for the seaman;
- (11) The annual leave with pay granted to the seaman after one year's service with the same shipping company, if such leave is provided for by national law;
- (12) Any other particulars which national law may require.

Article 7

If national law provides that a list of crew shall be carried on board it shall specify that the agreement shall either be recorded in or annexed to the list of crew.

Article 8

In order that the seaman may satisfy himself as to the nature and extent of his rights and obligations, national law shall lay down the measures to be taken to enable clear information to be obtained on board as to the conditions of employment, either by posting the conditions of the agreement in a place easily accessible from the crew's quarters, or by some other appropriate means.

Article 9

An agreement for an indefinite period may be terminated by either party in any port where the vessel loads or unloads, provided that the notice specified in the agreement shall have been given, which shall not be less than twenty-four hours.

Notice shall be given in writing; national law shall provide such manner of giving notice as is best calculated to preclude any subsequent dispute between the parties on this point.

National law shall determine the exceptional circumstances in which notice even when duly given shall not terminate the agreement.

Article 10

An agreement entered into for a voyage, for a definite period, or for an indefinite period shall be duly terminated by:

- (a) mutual consent of the parties;
- (b) death of the seaman;
- (c) loss or total unseaworthiness of the vessel;
- (d) any other cause that may be provided in national law or in this Convention.

Article 11

National law shall determine the circumstances in which the owner or master may immediately discharge a seaman.

Article 12

National law shall also determine the circumstances in which the seaman may demand his immediate discharge.

Article 13

If the seaman shows to the satisfaction of the shipowner or his agent that he can obtain command of a vessel or an appointment as mate or engineer or to any other post of a higher grade than he actually holds, or that any other circumstance has arisen since his engagement which renders it essential to his interests that he should be permitted to take his discharge, he may claim his discharge, provided that without increased expense to the shipowner and to the satisfaction of the shipowner or his agent he furnishes a competent and reliable man in his place.

In such case, the seaman shall be entitled to his wages up to the time of his leaving his employment.

Article 14

Whatever the reason for the termination or rescission of the agreement, an entry shall be made in the document issued to the seaman in accordance with Article 5 and in the list of crew showing that he has been discharged, and such entry shall, at the request of either party, be endorsed by the competent public authority.

The seaman shall at all times have the right, in addition to the record mentioned in Article 5, to obtain from the master a separate certificate as to the quality of his work or, failing that, a certificate indicating whether he has fully discharged his obligations under the agreement.

Article 15

National law shall provide the measures to ensure compliance with the terms of the present Convention.

Article 16

The formal ratifications of this Convention under the conditions set forth in Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles and in the corresponding Parts of the other Treaties of Peace shall be communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration.

Article 17

This Convention shall come into force at the date on which the ratifications of two Members of the International Labour Organization have been registered by the Secretary-General.

It shall be binding only upon those Members whose ratifications have been registered with the Secretariat.

Thereafter, the Convention shall come into force for any Member at the date on which its ratification has been registered with the Secretariat.

Article 18

As soon as the ratification of two Members of the International Labour Organisation have been registered with the Secretariat, the Secretary General of the League of Nations shall so notify all the Members of the International Labour Organization. He shall likewise notify them of the registration of ratifications which may be communicated subsequently by other Members of the Organization.

Article 19

Subject to the provisions of Article 17, each Member which ratifies this Convention agrees to bring the provisions of Articles 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 into operation not later than 1 January 1928, and to take such action as may be necessary to make these provisions effective.

Article 20

Each Member of the International Labour Organization which ratifies this Convention engages to apply it to its colonies, possessions and protectorates, in accordance with the provisions of Article 421 of the Treaty of Versailles and of the corresponding Articles of the other Treaties of Peace.

Article 21

A Member which has ratified this Convention may denounce it after the expiration of ten years from the date on which the Convention first comes into force, by an act communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration. Such denunciation shall not take effect until one year after the date on which it is registered with the Secretariat.

Article 22

At least once in ten years, the Governing Body of the International Labour Office shall present to the General Conference a report on the working of this Convention and shall consider the desirability of placing on the Agenda of the Conference the question of its revision or modification.

Article 23

The French and English texts of this Convention shall both be authentic. and that this House do approve of the same.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

Mr. Bennett moved,—That it be resolved,—That it is expedient that Parliament do approve of the Convention concerning the Marking of the Weight on Heavy Packages Transported by Vessels adopted as a Draft Convention by the General Conference of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations at its Twelfth Session in Geneva on the 21st day of June, 1929, reading as follows:—

CONVENTION CONCERNING THE MARKING OF THE WEIGHT ON HEAVY PACKAGES TRANSPORTED BY VESSELS

The General Conference of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations,

Having been convened at Geneva by the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, and having met in its Twelfth Session on 30 May 1929, and

Having decided upon the adoption of certain proposals with regard to the marking of the weight on heavy packages transported by vessels, which is included in the first item of the Agenda of the Session, and

Having determined that these proposals shall take the form of a draft international convention, adopts, this twenty-first day of June of the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, the following Draft Convention for ratification by the Members of the International Labour Organization, in accordance with the provisions of Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles and of the corresponding Parts of the other Treaties of Peace:

Article 1

Any package or object of one thousand kilograms (one metric ton) or more gross weight consigned within the territory of any Member which ratifies this Convention for transport by sea or inland waterway shall have had its gross weight plainly and durably marked upon it on the outside before it is loaded on a ship or vessel.

In exceptional cases where it is difficult to determine the exact weight, national laws or regulations may allow an approximate weight to be marked.

The obligation to see that this requirement is observed shall rest solely upon the Government of the country from which the package or object is consigned, and not on the Government of a country through which it passes on the way to its destination.

It shall be left to national laws or regulations to determine whether the obligation for having the weight marked as aforesaid shall fall on the consignor or on some other person or body.

Article 2

The formal ratifications of this Convention under the conditions set forth in Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles and in the corresponding Parts of the other Treaties of Peace shall be communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration.

Article 3

This Convention shall be binding only upon those Members whose ratifications have been registered with the Secretariat.

It shall come into force twelve months after the date on which the ratifications of two Members of the International Labour Organization have been registered with the Secretary-General.

Thereafter, this Convention shall come into force for any Member twelve months after the date on which its ratification has been registered.

Article 4

As soon as the ratification of two Members of the International Labour Organization have been registered with the Secretariat, the Secretary-General of the League of Nations shall so notify all the Members of the International Labour Organization. He shall likewise notify them of the registration of ratifications which may be communicated subsequently by other Members of the Organization.

Article 5

A member which has ratified this Convention may denounce it after the expiration of ten years from the date on which the Convention first comes into force, by an Act communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration. Such denunciation shall not take effect until one year after the date on which it is registered with the Secretariat.

Each Member which has ratified this Convention and which does not, within the year following the expiration of the period of ten years mentioned in the preceding paragraph, exercise the right of denunciation provided for in this Article, will be bound for another period of ten years and, thereafter, may denounce this Convention at the expiration of each period of ten years under the terms provided for in this Article.

Article 6

At the expiration of each period of ten years after the coming into force of this Convention, the Governing Body of the International Labour Office shall present to the General Conference a report on the working of this Convention and shall consider the desirability of placing on the Agenda of the Conference the question of its revision in whole or in part.

Article 7

Should the Conference adopt a new Convention revising this Convention in whole or in part, the ratification by a Member of the new revising Convention shall ipso jure involve denunciation of this Convention without any requirement of delay, notwithstanding the provisions of Article 5 above, if and when the new revising Convention shall have come into force.

As from the date of the coming into force of the new revising Convention, the present Convention shall cease to be open to ratification by the Members.

Nevertheless, this Convention shall remain in force in its actual form and content for those Members which have ratified it but have not ratified the revising Convention.

Article 8

The French and English texts of this Convention shall both be authentic, and that this House do approve of the same.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

Mr. Bennett moved.—That it be resolved,—That it is expedient that Parliament do approve of the Convention concerning the Protection Against Accidents of Workers Employed in Loading or Unloading Ships (revised 1932) adopted as a Draft Convention by the General Conference of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations at its Sixteenth Session in Geneva on the 12th day of April, 1932, reading as follows:—

CONVENTION CONCERNING THE PROTECTION AGAINST ACCIDENTS OF WORKERS EMPLOYED IN LOADING OR UNLOADING SHIPS

The General Conference of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations,

Having been convened at Geneva by the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, and having met in its Twelfth Session on 30 May, 1929, and

Having decided upon the adoption of certain proposals with regard to the protection against accidents of workers employed in loading or unloading ships, which is the second item on the Agenda of the Session, and

Having determined that these proposals shall take the form of a draft international convention, adopts, this twenty-first day of June of the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, the following Draft Convention for ratification by the Members of the International Labour Organization, in accordance with the provisions of Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles and of the corresponding Parts of the other Treaties of Peace:

Article 1

For the purpose of this Convention:

(1) the term "processes" means and includes all or any part of the work performed on shore or on board ship of loading or unloading any ship whether engaged in maritime or inland navigation, excluding ships of war, in, on, or at any maritime or inland port, harbour, dock, wharf, quay or similar place at which such work is carried on; and

(2) the term "worker" means any person employed in the processes.

Article 2

Any regular approach over a dock, wharf, quay or similar premises which workers have to use for going to or from a working place at which the processes are carried on and every such working place on shore shall be maintained with due regard to the safety of the workers using them.

In particular,

(1) every said working place on shore and any dangerous parts of any said approach thereto from the nearest highway shall be safely and efficiently lighted;

(2) wharves and quays shall be kept sufficiently clear of goods to maintain a clear passage to the means of access referred to in Article 3;

(3) where any space is left along the edge of any wharf or quay, it shall be at least 3 feet (90 cm.) wide and clear of all obstructions other than fixed structures, plant and appliances in use; and

(4) so far as is practicable having regard to the traffic and working,

(a) all dangerous parts of the said approaches and working places (e.g. dangerous breaks, corners and edges) shall be adequately fenced to a height of not less than 2 feet 6 inches (75 cm.);

(b) dangerous footways over bridges, caissons and dock gates shall be fenced to a height of not less than 2 feet 6 inches (75 cm.) on each side, and the said fencing shall be continued at both ends to a sufficient distance which shall not be required to exceed 5 yards (4 m. 50).

Article 3

(1) When a ship is lying alongside a quay or some other vessel for the purpose of the processes, there shall be safe means of access for the use of the workers at such times as they have to pass to or from the ship, unless the conditions are such that they would not be exposed to undue risk if no special appliance were provided.

(2) The said means of access shall be:

- (a) where reasonably practicable, the ship's accommodation ladder, a gangway or a similar construction;
- (b) in other cases a ladder.

(3) The appliances specified in paragraph (2) (a) of this Article shall be at least 22 inches (55 cm.) wide, properly secured to prevent their displacement, not inclined at too steep an angle, constructed of materials of good quality and in good condition, and securely fenced throughout to a clear height of not less than 2 feet 9 inches (82 cm.) on both sides, or in the case of the ship's accommodation ladder securely fenced to the same height on one side, provided that the other side is properly protected by the ship's side.

Provided that any appliances as aforesaid in use at the date of the ratification of this Convention shall be allowed to remain in use:

(a) until the fencing is renewed if they are fenced on both sides to a clear height of at least 2 feet 8 inches (80 cm.);

(b) for one year from the date of ratification if they are fenced on both sides to a clear height of at least 2 feet 6 inches (75 cm.).

(4) The ladders specified in paragraph (2) (b) of this Article shall be of adequate length and strength, and properly secured.

(5) (a) Exceptions to the provisions of this Article may be allowed by the competent authorities when they are satisfied that the appliances specified in the Article are not required for the safety of the workers.

(b) The provisions of this Article shall not apply to cargo stages or cargo gangways when exclusively used for the processes.

(6) Workers shall not use, or be required to use, any other means of access than the means specified or allowed by this Article.

Article 4

When the workers have to proceed to or from a ship by water for the processes, appropriate measures shall be prescribed to ensure their safe transport, including the conditions to be complied with by the vessels used for this purpose.

Article 5

(1) When the workers have to carry on the processes in a hold the depth of which from the level of the deck to the bottom of the hold exceeds 5 feet (1 m. 50), there shall be safe means of access from the deck to the hold for their use.

(2) The said means of access shall ordinarily be by ladder, which shall not be deemed to be safe unless it complies with the following conditions:

- (a) leaves sufficient free space behind the rungs, which in the case of ladders on bulkheads and in trunk hatchways shall not be less than $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches ($11\frac{1}{2}$ cm.), or has throughout rungs of proper width for firm foothold and handhold;
- (b) is not recessed under the deck more than is reasonably necessary to keep it clear of the hatchway;
- (c) is continued by and is in line with arrangements for secure handhold and foothold on the coamings (e.g. cleats or cups);

- (d) the said arrangements on the coamings stand out not less than 4½ inches (11½ cm.) for a width of 10 inches (25 cm.); and
- (e) if separate ladders are provided between the lower decks, the said ladders are as far as practicable in line with the ladder from the top deck.

Where, however, owing to the construction of the ship, the provision of a ladder would not be reasonably practicable, it shall be open to the competent authorities to allow other means of access, provided that they comply with the conditions laid down in this Article for ladders so far as they are applicable.

(3) Sufficient free passage to the means of access shall be left at the coamings.

(4) Shaft tunnels shall be equipped with adequate handhold and foothold on both sides.

(5) When a ladder is to be used in the hold of a vessel which is not decked it shall be the duty of the contractor undertaking the processes to provide such ladder. It shall be equipped at the top with hooks for fastening it on to the coamings or with other means for firmly securing it.

(6) The workers shall not use, or be required to use, other means of access than the means specified or allowed by this Article.

(7) Ships existing at the date of ratification of this Convention shall be exempt from compliance with the measurements in paragraph 2 (a) and (d) and from the provisions of paragraph 4 of this Article for a period not exceeding four years from the date of ratification of this Convention.

Article 6

While the workers are on a ship for the purpose of the processes, no hatchway of a cargo hold which exceeds 5 feet (1 m. 50) in depth from the level of the deck to the bottom of the hold and which is accessible to the workers shall be left open and unprotected, but every such hatchway which is not protected to a clear height of 2 feet 6 inches (75 cm.) by the coamings shall either be securely fenced to a height of 3 feet (90 cm.) if the processes at that hatchway are not impeded thereby or be securely covered.

Similar measures shall be taken when necessary to protect any other openings in a deck which might be dangerous to the workers.

Provided that the requirements of this Article shall not apply when a proper and sufficient watch is being kept.

Article 7

When the processes have to be carried on on a ship, the means of access thereto and all places on board at which the workers are employed or to which they may be required to proceed in the course of their employment shall be efficiently lighted.

The means of lighting shall be such as not to endanger the safety of the workers nor to interfere with the navigation of other vessels.

Article 8

In order to ensure the safety of the workers when engaged in removing or replacing hatch coverings and beams used for hatch coverings,

(1) hatch coverings and beams used for hatch coverings shall be maintained in good condition;

(2) hatch coverings shall be fitted with adequate hand grips, having regard to their size and weight;

(3) beams used for hatch coverings shall have suitable gear for removing and replacing them of such a character as to render it unnecessary for workers to go upon them for the purpose of adjusting such gear;

(4) all hatch coverings and fore and aft and thwart-ship beams shall, in so far as they are not interchangeable, be kept plainly marked to indicate the deck and hatch to which they belong and their position therein;

(5) hatch coverings shall not be used in the construction of cargo stages or for any other purpose which may expose them to damage.

Article 9

Appropriate measures shall be prescribed to ensure that no hoisting machine, or gear, whether fixed or loose, used in connection therewith, is employed in the processes on shore or on board ship unless it is in a safe working condition.

In particular,

(1) before being taken into use, the said machines, fixed gear on board ship accessory thereto as defined by national laws or regulations, and chains and wire ropes used in connection therewith, shall be adequately examined and tested, and the safe working load thereof certified, in the manner prescribed and by a competent person;

(2) after being taken into use, every hoisting machine, whether used on shore or on board ship, and all fixed gear on board ship accessory thereto as defined by national laws or regulations shall be thoroughly examined or inspected as follows:

(a) to be thoroughly examined every four years and inspected every twelve months: derricks, goose necks, mast bands, derrick bands, eyebolts, spans and any other fixed gear the dismantling of which is specially difficult;

(b) to be thoroughly examined every twelve months: all hoisting machines (e.g. cranes, winches), blocks, shackles and all other accessory gear not included in (a).

All loose gear (e.g. chains, wire ropes, rings, hooks) shall be inspected on each occasion before use unless they have been inspected within the previous three months.

Chains shall not be shortened by tying knots in them and precautions shall be taken to prevent injury to them from sharp edges.

A thimble or loop splice made in any wire rope shall have at least three tucks with a whole strand of rope and two tucks with one half of the wires cut out of each strand; provided that this requirement shall not operate to prevent the use of another form of splice which can be shown to be as efficient as the form hereby prescribed.

(3) Chains and such similar gear as is specified by national laws or regulations (e.g. hooks, rings, shackles, swivels) shall, unless they have been subjected to such other sufficient treatment as may be prescribed by national laws or regulations, be annealed under the supervision of a competent person as follows:

(a) In the case of chains and the said gear carried on board ship:

(i) half inch ($12\frac{1}{2}$ mm.) and smaller chains or gear in general use once at least in every six months;

- (ii) all other chains or gear (including span chains but excluding bridle chains attached to derricks or masts) in general use once at least in every twelve months:

Provided that in the case of such gear used solely on cranes and other hoisting appliances worked by hand, twelve months shall be substituted for six months in sub-paragraph (i) and two years for twelve months in sub-paragraph (ii);

Provided also that, if the competent authority is of opinion that owing to the size, design, material or infrequency of use of any of the said gear other than chains the requirements of this paragraph as to annealing are not necessary for the protection of the workers it may, by certificate in writing (which it may at its discretion revoke) exempt such gear from the said requirements subject to such conditions as may be specified in the said certificate.

- (b) In the case of chains and the said gear not carried on board ship:

Measures shall be prescribed to secure the annealing of the said chains and gear.

- (c) In the case of the said chains and gear whether carried on board ship or not, which have been lengthened, altered or repaired by welding, they shall thereupon be tested and re-examined.

(4) Such duly authenticated records as will provide sufficient prima facie evidence of the safe condition of the machines and gear concerned shall be kept, on shore or on the ship as the case may be, specifying the safe working load and the dates and results of the tests and examinations referred to in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this Article and of the annealings or other treatment referred to in paragraph (3).

Such records shall, on the application of any person authorised for the purpose, be produced by the person in charge thereof.

(5) The safe working load shall be kept plainly marked on all cranes, derricks and chain slings and on any similar hoisting gear used on board ship as specified by national laws or regulations. The safe working load marked on chain slings shall either be in plain figures or letters upon the chains or upon a tablet or ring of durable material attached securely thereto.

(6) All motors, cogwheels, chain and friction gearing, shafting, live electric conductors and steam pipes shall (unless it can be shown that by their position and construction they are equally safe to every worker employed as they would be if securely fenced) be securely fenced so far as is practicable without impeding the safe working of the ship.

(7) Cranes and winches shall be provided with effective appliances to prevent the accidental descent of a load while in process of being lifted or lowered.

(8) Appropriate measures shall be taken to prevent exhaust steam from and, so far as practicable, live steam to any crane or winch obscuring any part of the working place at which a worker is employed.

Article 10

Only sufficiently competent and reliable persons shall be employed to operate lifting or transporting machinery whether driven by mechanical power or otherwise, or to give signals to a driver of such machinery, or to attend to cargo falls on winch ends or winch drums.

Article 11

(1) No load shall be left suspended from any hoisting machine unless there is a competent person actually in charge of the machine while the load is so left.

(2) Appropriate measures shall be prescribed to provide for the employment of a signaller where this is necessary for the safety of the workers.

(3) Appropriate measures shall be prescribed with the object of preventing dangerous methods of working in the stacking, unstacking, stowing and unstowing of cargo, or handling in connection therewith.

(4) Before work is begun at a hatch the beams thereof shall be removed, unless the hatch is of sufficient size to preclude danger to the workers from a load striking against the beams; provided that when the beams are not removed they shall be securely fastened to prevent their displacement.

(5) Precautions shall be taken to facilitate the escape of the workers when employed in a hold or on 'tween decks in dealing with coal or other bulk cargo.

(6) No stage shall be used in the processes unless it is substantially and firmly constructed, adequately supported and where necessary securely fastened.

No truck shall be used for carrying cargo between ship and shore on a stage so steep as to be unsafe.

Stages shall where necessary be treated with suitable material to prevent the workers slipping.

(7) When the working space in a hold is confined to the square of the hatch, hooks shall not be made fast in the bands or fastenings of bales of cotton, wool, cork, gunny bags or other similar goods (nor can-hooks on barrels), except for the purpose of breaking out or making up slings.

(8) No gear of any description shall be loaded beyond the safe working load, except on special occasions expressly authorised by the owner or his responsible agent of which a record shall be kept.

(9) In the case of shore cranes with varying capacity (e.g. raising and lowering jib with load capacity varying according to the angle) an automatic indicator or a table showing the safe working loads at the corresponding inclinations of the jib shall be provided on the crane.

Article 12

National laws or regulations shall prescribe such precautions as may be deemed necessary to ensure the proper protection of the workers, having regard to the circumstances of each case, when they have to deal with or work in proximity to goods which are in themselves dangerous to life or health by reason either of their inherent nature or of their condition at the time, or work where such goods have been stowed.

Article 13

At docks, wharves, quays and similar places which are in frequent use for the processes, such facilities as having regard to local circumstances shall be prescribed by national laws or regulations shall be available for rapidly securing the rendering of first-aid and in serious cases of accident removal to the nearest place of treatment. Sufficient supplies of first-aid equipment shall be kept permanently on the premises in such a condition and in such positions as to be fit and readily accessible for immediate use during working hours. The said supplies shall be in charge of a responsible person or persons, who shall include one or more persons competent to render first-aid, and whose services shall also be readily available during working hours.

At such docks, wharves, quays and similar places as aforesaid appropriate provision shall also be made for the rescue of immersed workers from drowning.

Article 14

Any fencing, gangway, gear, ladder, life-saving means or appliance, light, mark, stage or other thing whatsoever required to be provided under this Convention shall not be removed or interfered with by any person except when duly authorised or in case of necessity, and if removed shall be restored at the end of the period for which its removal was necessary.

Article 15

It shall be open to each Member to grant exemptions from or exceptions to the provisions of this Convention in respect of any dock, wharf, quay or similar place at which the processes are only occasionally carried on or the traffic is small and confined to small ships, or in respect of certain special ships or special classes of ships or ships below a certain small tonnage, or in cases where as a result of climatic conditions it would be impracticable to require the provisions of this Convention to be carried out.

The International Labour Office shall be kept informed of the provisions in virtue of which any exemptions and exceptions as aforesaid are allowed.

Article 16

Except as herein otherwise provided, the provisions of this Convention which affect the construction or permanent equipment of the ship shall apply to ships the building of which is commenced after the date of ratification of the Convention, and to all other ships within four years after that date, provided that in the meantime the said provisions shall be applied so far as reasonable and practicable to such other ships.

Article 17

In order to ensure the due enforcement of any regulations prescribed for the protection of the workers against accidents,

(1) The regulations shall clearly define the persons or bodies who are to be responsible for compliance with the respective regulations;

(2) Provision shall be made for an efficient system of inspection and for penalties for breaches of the regulations;

(3) Copies or summaries of the regulations shall be posted up in prominent positions at docks, wharves, quays and similar places which are in frequent use for the processes.

Article 18

The formal ratifications of this Convention under the conditions set forth in Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles and in the corresponding Parts of the other Treaties of Peace shall be communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration.

Article 19

This Convention shall be binding only upon those Members whose ratifications have been registered with the Secretariat.

It shall come into force twelve months after the date on which the ratifications of two Members of the International Labour Organization have been registered with the Secretary-General.

Thereafter, this Convention shall come into force for any Member twelve months after the date on which its ratification has been registered.

Article 20

As soon as the ratifications of two Members of the International Labour Organization have been registered with the Secretariat, the Secretary-General of the League of Nations shall so notify all the Members of the International Labour Organization. He shall likewise notify them of the registration of ratifications which may be communicated subsequently by other Members of the Organization.

Article 21

A Member which has ratified this Convention may denounce it after the expiration of ten years from the date on which the Convention first comes into force, by an act communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration. Such denunciation shall not take effect until one year after the date on which it is registered with the Secretariat.

Each Member which has ratified this Convention and which does not, within the year following the expiration of the period of ten years mentioned in the preceding paragraph, exercise the right of denunciation provided for in this Article, will be bound for another period of five years and, thereafter, may denounce this Convention at the expiration of each period of five years under the terms provided for in this Article.

Article 22

At the expiration of each period of ten years after the coming into force of this Convention, the Governing Body of the International Labour Office shall present to the General Conference a report on the working of this Convention and shall consider the desirability of placing on the Agenda of the Conference the question of its revision in whole or in part.

The General Conference of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations,

Having been convened at Geneva by the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, and having met in its Eleventh Session on 30 May, 1928, and

Article 1

Each Member of the International Labour Organization which ratifies this Convention undertakes to create or maintain machinery whereby minimum rates of wages can be fixed for workers employed in certain of the trades or parts of trades (and in particular in home working trades) in which no arrangements exist for the effective regulation of wages by collective agreement or otherwise and wages are exceptionally low.

For the purpose of this Convention the term "trades" includes manufacture and commerce.

Provided that,

- (3) Minimum rates of wages which have been fixed shall be binding on the employers and workers concerned so as not to be subject to abatement by them by individual agreement, nor, except with the general or particular authorization of the competent authority, by collective agreement.

Article 4

Each Member which ratifies this Convention shall take the necessary measures, by way of a system of supervision and sanctions, to ensure that the employers and workers concerned are informed of the minimum rates of wages in force and that wages are not paid at less than these rates in cases where they are applicable.

A worker to whom the minimum rates are applicable and who has been paid wages at less than these rates shall be entitled to recover, by judicial or other legalized proceedings, the amount by which he has been underpaid, subject to such limitation of time as may be determined by national laws or regulations.

Article 5

Article 6

The formal ratifications of this Convention under the conditions set forth in Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles and in the corresponding Parts of the other Treaties of Peace shall be communicated to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations for registration.

Thereafter, this Convention shall come into force for any Member twelve months after the date on which its ratification has been registered.

Such denunciation shall not take effect until one year after the date on which it is registered with the Secretariat.

Each Member which has ratified this Convention and which does not, within the year following the expiration of the period of ten years mentioned in the preceding paragraph, exercise the right of denunciation provided for in this Article, will be bound for another period of five years and, thereafter, may denounce this Convention at the expiration of each period of five years under the terms provided for in this Article.

Article 10

At least once in ten years the Governing Body of the International Labour Office shall present to the General Conference a report on the working of this Convention and shall consider the desirability of placing on the Agenda of the Conference the question of its revision or modification.

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, 27TH MARCH, 1935

PRAYERS.

One Petition was laid on the Table.

Mr. Bury, from the Select Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has considered the advisability of suspending Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) in relation the following applications for Private Bills, viz:—

1. Austin Eugene Stansfield—Divorce.

A petition was filed within the appointed time last session but, owing to the non-attendance of the respondent by reason of ill-health, the case did not proceed.

This year, due to a misunderstanding on the part of the petitioner's solicitors as between the respective requirements of the Senate and the House of Commons in the matter of renewing a petition, the filing of the petition in the House of Commons was delayed.

2. Mary Elizabeth Taylor Nicholson—Divorce.

The petitioner's absence from home owing to ill-health and also her lack of funds caused the delay in the filing of the petition.

An important witness contemplates leaving the country, and may not be available if the case is held over until next session.

3. Portage la Prairie Mutual Insurance Company.

The amendments sought by the company to its Act of incorporation had to be approved at the annual meeting of the company, which was not held until the 26th of January, 1935. Immediately thereafter, proceedings were instituted with all possible haste.

In regard to the three foregoing applications, your Committee recommends that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended, and that the petitions be read and received.

4. Sarnia-Port Huron Vehicular Tunnel Company.

Difficulty was experienced in respect to the financing of the American end of the proposed structure. The filing of the petition had to be deferred until this difficulty was removed.

Your Committee recommends that Standing Order 92 be suspended in relation to the petition of the Sarnia-Port Huron Vehicular Tunnel Company, and that the petition be read and received.

5. Mania Leizerson Oberman—Divorce.

Your Committee is advised that further proceedings this session will be dropped.

Mr. Weir (Melfort), a Member of the King's Privy Council, for Mr. Gordon, laid before the House.—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Relief Act, 1932, the Relief Act, 1934, as follows:—

Order in Council, P.C. 771, dated March 26, 1935: authorizing payment to the Province of Quebec of the sum of $18,669.40 for provincial direct relief to municipalities unable to contribute.

Order in Council, P.C. 772, dated March 26, 1935: authorizing payment to the Province of Ontario of the sum of $18,731.05 for municipal works.

On motion of Mr. Bury, the First Report of the Standing Committee on Standing Orders was concurred in.

Mr. Hanson (York-Sunbury), by leave of the House, introduced a Bill, No. 46, An Act to amend the Weights and Measures Act, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The following Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44:—

- (a) The opening prices of livestock on the Toronto market;

No. 53

JOURNALS

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, MONDAY, 1st APRIL, 1935

PRAYERS.

Mr. Turnbull, from the Standing Committee on Industrial and International Relations, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee have held two sessions and have heard statements from eleven persons, with respect to the subject matter of the Resolution referred to it for consideration under an Order of the House of Commons, dated January 31st, 1935, which resolution reads as follows:—

“Resolved that in the opinion of this House the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act should apply to blind people over forty years of age.”

As persons seventy years of age and over, whether blind or not, fall within the application of the Old Age Pensions Act in its present form, your Committee considered the position of blind persons between the ages of forty and seventy.

Evidence submitted to the Committee indicated that the Old Age Pensions Act is in force in only seven provinces out of nine and its provisions, therefore, when amended will not affect blind persons living in the remaining two provinces unless these provinces subsequently adopt the Old Age Pensions Act or the proposed amendments thereto.

It also indicated that records of organizations interested in the blind placed the number of the blind between forty and seventy years of age at 3,016. After making fair deductions it was stated that 2,178 persons would be affected by legislation requested by the said resolution. These figures are sufficiently in harmony with census returns to be considered reasonably accurate.

The estimated expenditure occasioned by the proposed legislation, if the above figures are accurate and allowing the maximum of $240 per person per annum, would be under $550,000 apart from administration expenses.

The Committee regrets that the terms of the resolution, if acceded to, will be of no assistance to blind persons residing in the two provinces of Canada in which the Old Age Pensions Act is not in effect, nevertheless in order that the blind people shall be assisted as far as reasonably possible, desires to express its approval of the resolution in question.

A Copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and evidence is tabled herewith.

That an humble address be voted to His Majesty the King in the following words:—

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty:

Most Gracious Sovereign:

We, Your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the House of Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled, beg to offer our sincere congratulations on the happy completion of the twenty-fifth year of Your illustrious reign.

The eventful years which have passed since Your Majesty's Accession to the Throne have witnessed great and significant changes in economic, social and political conditions that have constantly demanded the exercise of the highest qualities of courage and of leadership. During these years important and definite developments in the constitutional relations between the several parts of Your Majesty's dominions have more firmly established that unity of which their common allegiance to the Crown is the symbol and inspiration. We rejoice that each year has been marked by an increasing appreciation of Your Majesty's inspiring example of conscientious devotion to duty and of unselfish labour for the welfare of Your people. Your Majesty will celebrate the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Your Accession enjoying the unreserved respect and the loyal affection of the people in all parts of Your dominions, which is a striking demonstration of the righteousness and wisdom which Your Majesty has exhibited both in war and in peace through years of unexampled difficulty.

We ask that our loyal and respectful congratulations may be accepted by Her Gracious Majesty the Queen whose untiring interest in every movement for the relief of distress and suffering and for the welfare of humanity has given Her a secure place in the affections of the people of Canada. We rejoice that the Queen will share the demonstration of loyalty and devotion which will be shown to Your Majesty on this memorable anniversary.

From time to time during Your Majesty's reign the people of Canada have enjoyed the honour of welcoming to this Dominion His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and other members of the Royal family, whose visits have not only deepened the loyal devotion of the people of Canada to Your Majesty but have enhanced their appreciation of the interest which is always taken by the members of the Royal family in all that pertains to the progress and welfare of this Dominion.

We trust that we may continue for many years to enjoy the benefit of Your gracious and peaceful rule. Our earnest prayer is that He who is the Ruler of all nations and the King of Kings may uphold, direct and preserve Your Majesty in health, in happiness, and in the affectionate loyalty of Your People.

On motion of Sir George Perley, it was ordered,—That the said Address be engrossed.

On motion of Sir George Perley it was resolved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate informing their Honours that this House has passed an Address to His Most Excellent Majesty the King, expressing loyal and respectful congratulations on the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of His Accession to the Throne, and requesting their Honours to unite with this House in the said Address hereto attached.

The Bill No. 24, An Act respecting the Canadian National Railways and to authorize the provision of moneys to meet expenditures made and indebtedness incurred during the calendar year 1935, was considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The House went into Committee of the Whole to consider a proposed Resolution respecting a measure to create employment by Public Works and undertakings throughout Canada.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:—

Resolved,—That it is expedient to bring in a measure to create employment by public works and undertakings throughout Canada, and to authorize the Government to guarantee equipment securities of the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway Company in the amount of fifteen million dollars.

Resolution to be reported.

The said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in.

Mr. Stewart (Leeds), then, by leave of the House, presented a Bill, No. 63, An Act to create employment by public works and undertakings throughout Canada and to authorize the guarantee of certain railway equipment securities, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The House resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Rhodes,—That all the amendments proposed by the Senate to Bill No. 15, An Act to amend the Canadian Farm Loan Act, be concurred in, with the exception of amendments Nos. 13 and 14, in which amendments this House does not concur for the following reason: "That farm property being at the present time at its lowest value, a total advance of sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of the appraised value of a farm would secure a much smaller loan than would have been secured at fifty per cent valuation a few years ago."

And the Debate continuing, the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Cahan, adjourned.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill to which the concurrence of this House was desired:—

Bill No. 64 (Letter R of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Frances Goldberg Joseph."

And also,—A Message communicating to this House the evidence taken before the Standing Committee of the Senate on Divorce to whom was referred the petition of Frances Goldberg Joseph praying for a Bill of Divorce, and the papers produced in evidence before them with a request that the same be returned to the Senate.

At eleven o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 7, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

JAMES L. BOWMAN,

Speaker.

Comprehensive housing and town planning rests upon a biological basis. The problem of town planning, which includes housing, is to create a condition of environment in which human life can thrive. Anything short of that gives deterioration and degradation of the human element and all the social and political ills that generally follow and accompany these processes. It is a problem having to do with the maintenance of human life and its enhancement, by providing proper physical environment.

A definition of town planning by the Town Planning Institute of Canada is: "Town Planning is the scientific and orderly disposition of land and buildings in use and development, with a view to obviating congestion and securing economic and social efficiency, health and well-being in urban and rural communities."

The crux of the problem of housing and town planning is congestion; congestion of traffic which affects the time-space or time-distance of accessibility to homes, congestion of houses, too many houses on the land; and congestion of occupancy, the overcrowding of houses. Thus we have three factors—traffic, the house itself and its occupants—coming into the problem for consideration.

Your Committee has heard evidence from many individuals and groups upon the sociological and economic principles involved and representatives of municipalities, Boards of Trade, public organizations, expert opinions and special interests. These presentations comprised exhaustive data and study relative to the existing conditions, basic requirements and recommended methods of alleviation of problems involved in and interrelated to the subject under investigation.

The "white collar" wage earners, with incomes at about $1.250 can, in general, afford one-third of their incomes for rental but the semi-skilled factory worker and the unskilled labourer with incomes from $550 to $750 cannot, as a matter of social economics, afford to pay more than one-fifth of their incomes for rent.

Many people own houses for renting but do not wish to rent them at such figures, and, as a result, there is difficulty in finding proper accommodation. The trouble is that there never was accommodation designed objectively for the low wage earner.

The prevailing opinion would seem to be that the community as a whole has some responsibility for the housing of its people.

There will always be a large number of people who cannot afford to purchase a home, and it becomes the business of some agency, municipal, provincial or federal, to see to it that a sufficient number of suitable and sanitary dwellings are available for rent.

The situation is well illustrated by Mr. Officer, Chief Sanitary Inspector, Winnipeg, who, in referring to overcrowding before the Committee said: "I have not the soul or the conscience to throw these people out, because there is no place for them to go; but as soon as our expectations are fulfilled, and the Dominion Government helps us out with cheap money and we can build places, we will apply pressure and get them out. But there is no use applying pressure now. There is no place for the people to go." And also by Professor Nobbs, who said: "As far as Montreal is concerned, a Government aided program of housing is long overdue."

Amelioration of social conditions, of which housing is a salient feature, is followed sooner or later by the normal and intellectual advance of the individual.

A NATIONAL POLICY OF HOUSING

The deliberations of the Committee have naturally led to its consideration of national housing policies in other countries.

The new British Housing Act is a vastly comprehensive and complicated measure covering rural as well as urban problems. It contains two basic principles, namely, the prohibiting of over-crowding by law and the providing of an ample supply of houses for lower wage earners involving Government subsidies, where necessary.

In Great Britain there have been 212 different reports and Bills on housing since the year 1838. In England the obligation of local authorities or municipalities to provide adequate housing accommodation is statutory. The Housing Act 1930, Section 25 (1), sets forth: "It shall be the duty of every local authority to consider the housing conditions in their area and the need of the area with respect to the provision of further housing accommodation for the working class and as often as occasion arises to prepare and submit to the Ministry proposals for the provisions of new houses for the working classes."

Legislation embodied in the Housing Act, England, 1934, makes overcrowding a statutory offence, and prescribes the minimum adequate standards of accommodation permissible in England and Wales.

The number of houses built in England and Wales since 1919 is 2,335,122. Of these, 1,184,600 were built with subsidy. The National and Local Governments have contributed in subsidies £178,270,000 ($891,350,000). In addition to this they are pledged to £16,000,000 ($80,000,000) per year for many years to come. They have also invested in Recoverable Loans £337,000,000 ($1,685,000,000).

In the United States the recommendation of the National Association of Housing Officials is: (a) the responsibility of securing provisions of adequate housing accommodation for those income groups of citizens in the United States whose housing needs are not taken care of adequately by ordinary commercial enterprise should be recognized as a Government one and its discharge should be entrusted to appropriate public authorities and government controlled agencies, (b) that the public credit and powers should be used to secure the needed standard of dwellings and of rents low enough to be paid by as many as possible of those now living in sub-standard housing without involving any charge on the taxpayer and that as regards those unable to pay even such low rents the minimum standard of housing should be recognized as a necessary part of subsistence and that considerable provision by some appropriate form of public subsidy or assistance should be made available for as long as may be necessary.

The following is a translation of a decree recently enacted in Mexico: "The Department of the (Federal) District, considering that on initiating for the first time in the Republic the solution of the problem of the workmen's house in urban centres the utmost facilities should be given and a sincere confidence among the classes which are to be benefited created, has seen to it that the houses of the workers should be at a cost within the means of the economic conditions of the persons acquiring them; lowering the property tax on them, abolishing the interest on the capital invested in their construction; creating a life insurance to cover the event of the death of the interested person; granting liberal periods of stay in partial payments in cases of suspension or loss of work; giving facilities for the acquisition of these houses by means of the intervention of institutions of credit and of the office of pensions, and, finally, giving facilities to the industrial or commercial enterprises of the Federal District to acquire blocks or houses for their workers."

Every country in Europe, the United States and Mexico either has a housing policy or has initiated one.

In Canada, under the War Measures Act, in the Order in Council appropriating $25,000,000 for home building it is stated: (Sessional Papers 53, P.C. 3067, 1918), "The Minister observes that in view of the national importance of adequate and suitable housing accommodation, which affects vitally the health, morals and general well-being of the entire community, it is desirable that the financial assistance thus provided should be utilized at the earliest possible date in the provision of the housing accommodation, contemplated by the said Order in Council."

At a National Industrial Conference at Ottawa, 1919, composed of representatives of Federal and Provincial Governments and representative employers and labour men, the following resolution was unanimously carried: "That this Conference commends the attention of the Dominion and Provincial Governments in their united efforts to improve housing conditions and to provide facilities for the proper and satisfactory housing of our people and recommends increased co-operation of, and investigation by, the Dominion and Provincial Governments to find a satisfactory solution of the problem."

The Toronto Housing Company Limited, 1912, was formed by a joint committee representing the municipality, the Board of Trade, the Manufacturers Association and the Civic Guild of the City of Toronto for the purpose of providing workmen with suitable dwellings at moderate rentals.

A brief from the National Construction Council of Canada sets forth: "Domestic building touches the lives of our people daily. There is almost prima facie evidence that housing is entitled to some guidance from the State. There is a demand that something be done in regard to raising housing standards particularly for groups of wage earners who receive the least for their service."

In the report on housing and slum clearance for Montreal, made by a joint committee of the Montreal Board of Trade and the Civic Improvement League, under the joint chairmanship of Professor Percy E. Nobbs and Mr. Guy Tombs, it is stated: "As far as Montreal is concerned a government aided program of housing is long overdue; and that this is a matter fundamentally independent of the depression though aggravated by it."

In a report on housing conditions in Toronto made by a committee under the chairmanship of Lieutenant Governor Bruce, it is stated: "It should be urged on the Dominion Government particularly that no public works grants are so urgently needed as those for the rehousing of the poorest members of the community."

Your committee is of the opinion that the foregoing authoritative opinions are expressive of views which should guide the formulation of a housing policy for Canada.

CONSTRUCTION (NEW HOUSES)

From the evidence submitted it appears that the basic housing shortage lies in the needs of the low wage earner for whom the minimum of health and amenity should be provided on a basis of rental within his capacity to pay.

To meet this requirement, such housing must provide protection from the weather, adequate lighting and ventilation, be capable of being properly heated; be equipped with sanitary conveniences and drainage and be furnished with such facilities as make the amenities of family life sufficient, convenient and hygienic.

The minimum accommodation possible to meet such normal family requirements involves dwelling units having three bedrooms, livingroom-kitchen and bathroom, which accommodation meets the basic requirements of parents, and children of both sexes. Lesser accommodation would, of course, be ample where the family unit does not involve children.

Evidence has been submitted that Government aided house building can only be provided economically by mass production, that is, by building a great many houses at one time; that, in order to obtain low unit cost, they should be built in accordance with established sound town planning theories governing their accessibility, accommodation, site disposition, their number to the acre, selective occupancy and the zoning of housing areas to effect stabilization of the beneficial conditions obtained and the values invested.

The provision of houses, whether involving individual ownership or group dwellings for rent, if to be considered under any form of Government assistance, positively demands the necessity of their construction and maintenance under strict control and in keeping with definitely prescribed minimum standards of construction, accommodation and amenities.

RECONSTRUCTION (SLUM CLEARANCE)

A slum or a slum house is an insanitary house.

A sanitary house if overcrowded becomes insanitary and a slum.

A slum district is an area in which the substantial majority of the houses are in slum condition.

Slum clearance is almost altogether reconstruction which may be said to consist of undertakings involving large areas of one or more city blocks of high priced central land.

The Minister of Health in Great Britain, Sir E. Hilton Young, has spoken of the slums as representing a problem of "ridding our social organism of radiating centres of depravity and disease". In these words he has echoed the conviction of all thoughtful people.

Slums are a heavy indirect charge on the community. It is estimated by the Bureau of Statistics that crime costs us in Canada $60,000,000 per year, taking into consideration the lost time of those in our criminal institutions. The Department of Health estimates that Public Health costs us, including all phases such as medical fees, hospitalization, etc., $200,000,000 per year. These figures would be substantially reduced by the elimination of overcrowding and bad housing.

The Medical Health Officer, Glasgow, Scotland, reported mortality rates in houses as follows:

	Death Date
One-roomed houses	25.9 per 1,000
Two-roomed houses	16.5 " "
Three-roomed houses	11.5 " "
Four-roomed houses	10.8 " "

That is to say, the death rate in one-roomed houses was three times as great as in three-roomed houses.

The following figures are an indication of the effect of re-housing on the same sites in Liverpool, England:

	Deaths from all causes, per 1,000 population	Deaths from tuberculosis per 1,000 population	Infant Mortality per 1,000 births
Before reconstruction	37.0	4.0	259
After reconstruction	26.6	1.9	162
Entire City	18.0	1.7	119

The infant mortality rate of a community is controlled by many factors, and one of these, not least important, is housing. Infant mortality statistics furnished by the Department of Public Health, in Toronto, demonstrate this quite clearly. The infant mortality rate is the death rate for infants under one year computed per thousand living births. For Toronto as a whole, in 1933, this was 63.4. For the seven areas of bad housing it was 72.6 and for the four areas of good housing 58.3. In Ward 2, Subdivision 2 (Moss Park) the rate was 121.2, which is almost double the rate of all Toronto; and in Ward 3, Subdivision 6 (the Ward) it was 83.3.

It has already been pointed out that juvenile delinquency in Toronto is more serious in areas where poor housing is prevalent. That the same relationship holds for certain crimes committed by adults is shown in the statistics of residence of convicted criminals supplied to the Committee by the Chief Constable. For example, in one district of which an intensive survey was made by the committee, in a total of 547 houses inspected, 315 were reported as below the committee's minimum standard of health and decency. The data supplied by the police show that among these houses one hundred were "convicted" in the year 1933 as betting, gambling or bawdy houses, or for violations of the liquor laws. Some of these houses were convicted as many as ten times although in practically every case the tenant had moved, after conviction, to some new location. This repeated conviction of certain houses with different tenants suggests even more forcibly than the high total of convictions that crime and poor environment are intimately related. The police summarize their conclusions in a comment accompanying the statistics by saying that "the environment created, (by bad housing conditions) through its encouragement of drinking, gambling, sexual laxity and petty crimes, makes a breeding ground for crime and is the cause of a great deal of juvenile delinquency and subsequent participation in major crimes.

According to an intensive survey made in Cleveland of a slum district where two and one-half per cent of the population lived, 22 per cent of the murders were committed, 6.8 per cent of boy delinquency, and 12½ per cent of the tuberculosis deaths occurred in this area. Although the per capita cost of fire protection in the City of Cleveland is only $3.12 the cost in the slum area is $18.72. Although the total tax income of this area is only $225,000 the total municipal expenses are $1,356,000, leaving a deficit of $1,131,000, which must be made up by the rest of the community. If you add the contribution of the various unofficial agencies, such as Visiting Nurses Association, Maternity Hospitals, etc., we add $615,000, so the total deficiency is $1,740,000.

Evidence was given to show that the slum areas in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg are not yet so much a menace in themselves as they are to the potential areas of deterioration surrounding them. This creeping slum deterioration does great harm to adjoining real estate values. To clear up the slum areas in Canada requires the work of some central agency. The houses unfit for human habitation may be condemned but in order to clear up the area and to rebuild, compensation for buildings in good or partial repair must be provided for as the values of these buildings is, of course, lost when torn down.

No rehabilitation (repairs) should be done in areas distinctly held in view for subsequent slum clearance.

No figures can be given for slum clearance in general. Each case must be estimated on its own merits. It is estimated that to eradicate the slum areas and rehabilitate them would cost $14,000,000 in Montreal and $12,000,000 in Toronto, that is exclusive of accruing land equities involved.

The clearance of slum areas must await changes in Provincial and civic laws, which at present hamper speedy and economic action.

REHABILITATION (REPAIR)

Property generally has depreciated because of the fact that during the last three or four years money has not been available to owners with which to take care of ordinary repairs and maintenance and this has accumulated and is accelerating.

Many houses are today not up to standard simply for lack of repairs. More living units could be obtained more rapidly by repairing existing houses up to reasonable standards than by any other means. By such expenditure there would be kept intact funds already invested.

This was the first Government housing method undertaken in the United States and had the merit of making available a large mass of work, general in nature, and more or less equitably distributed throughout the country.

Provision should be made for that class of people to help them rehabilitate their homes but it is a complex problem.

There are no sources of statistics available but the need for repair is evidently general throughout the country.

Due to the depression, dwellings of all classes are in varying states of "deferred" repair.

If a dwelling, not too far gone, can be repaired and made "standard" at a cost commensurate with the results obtainable, then practically a new "standard" dwelling unit and accommodation is provided for at less cost than the new construction. Funds made available will provide a larger number of standard living units than if confined to new construction alone.

The difficulty is to determine the most feasible method of accomplishing this. Existing dwellings usually have mortgages as first liens and there may be arrears of taxes and of interest, all of which together often equal or exceed the existing equity in the more or less dilapidated premises.

URBAN AND RURAL DWELLING HOUSES

We have already dealt with the question of "urban" dwelling houses.

In regard to "rural" housing there is a definite lack of statistical and other information as to conditions or requirements as municipalities do not keep such records.

There is also the question as to whether the standards and inadequacies of rural housing might not properly be considered a duty and obligation of the Farm Loan Board.

Evidence has been submitted to the effect that there are worse living conditions in rural sections than exist in many of our cities but that there is no organization in rural districts to which the query can be addressed, "What are the conditions in your district?"

Data of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that in 1921 there were 21,116 one family households of owners and 7,261 one family households of tenants, consisting of two or more persons and occupying one room only. There were also in rural Canada in 1931, taking owners and tenants together, 753 households of two or more families occupying one room only. Again, in urban Canada, there were in 1931, taking owners and tenants together, 11,975 households of one family of two or more persons living in a single room and 94 households where two or more families live in a single room.

IN ORDER TO PROVIDE EMPLOYMENT (RELIEF)

The Dominion Statistician, Dr. Coats, states: "It would appear that at the present time the grand total expenditure of all governmental authorities for relief must be in the neighbourhood of $100,000,000 in the twelve months ending March 31, 1935".

"The census of occupation, taken as at June 1, 1931, shows a total of 127,364 wage earners normally occupied in the building construction industry on that date. On June 1, 1934, it would appear that the grand total number of persons employed in the building construction industry in Canada on that date was approximately 34,500 out of the 127,364 as being wage earners in this industry in 1931, leaving the number unemployed as of June 1, 1934, at approximately 93,000."

After a period of slump and depression when the spending of public funds becomes a policy for the purpose of finding employment and setting the wheels of industry and commerce revolving again, house construction presents certain very clearly defined advantages over many other classes of work.

It distributes the full capital cost in the form of purchasing power. Practically the whole expenditure is spread over a wide range of trades, labour and materials. Even the cost of the latter is mainly represented by wages to different classes of labour engaged in home industries.

Mr. J. Clark Reilly, giving evidence for the Canadian Constructive Association, said that his information showed that in 1920 the trade unions reported only three to seven per cent out of work, and in 1926, seven to eight per cent. In 1933 the figure of unemployed in their ranks rose to seventy-one per cent of skilled men.

The Bank of Nova Scotia's Review quotes a total for eleven years of $1,143,800,000 spent upon residential construction down to 1931. They give us the annual average as $104,000,000 and to show how this has dropped they state that in 1932 it was $28,900,000, in 1933 $23,900,000 and in 1934, $30,600,000 in residential construction.

Mr. Reilly adds, that from the best survey that the Construction Association has been able to make it would appear that from eighty to eighty-two per cent is the total amount of the value of labour involved in a house but it varies with the type of houses.

The representation from the Canadian Construction Council submitted that, according to data they had obtained, sixty per cent of the unemployed are workers normally dependent upon construction for employment.

Reference was also made to a statement originating with the Cleveland Trust Company that last June the unemployed in the durable and building goods industries in the United States totalled 4,700,000; and that there were unemployed in consumable goods 500,000 and in services 3,900,000 or a total of 4,400,000. Therefore it was fairly obvious that were the 4,700,000 unemployed in the building and durable goods industries re-employed, the spending of their earnings would employ the 4,400,000 in the consumable goods and services industries. This was given as an illustration of how re-employment in the durable goods industries is essential to general recovery.

Mr. Armand Dupuis stated in his evidence: "There has been no construction in the past three or four years in Montreal, whereas in the twenty years which preceded them construction was the main industry in Montreal."

And further he said: "It would be the means of putting into circulation eighty per cent of the cost of the work in the form of wages. That eighty per cent is not a fancy figure, it has been given to us by a number of reliable contractors as being the amount of money in connection with the construction of small houses, and incidentally, it is the form of expenditure through which money gets back into circulation the faster."

Mr. J. Rancourt says: "It is admitted at the present time that the construction of dwellings in Montreal during the last five years has been very little. It will be necessary if we are to keep up with the increase of population to have somewhere around 25,000 to 35,000 flats built."

He also stated: "You must also remember that in a city like Montreal one-eighth of the population of workers is employed in the construction trades and at the present time with no construction going on, we have about 46,000 heads of families on direct relief. These 46,000 heads of families represent about 200,000 people who are being supported in Montreal at the present time."

"If we base our situation at the present time on the facts as we know them rent would be limited to from $10.00 to $15.00 per month but I believe if these people were working a rent of $20.00 to $25.00 would easily be paid in Montreal."

Evidence as to the cost of relief in Ottawa, per annum, of the maintenance of a family of five was given by Mr. Cauchon. It comes to over $627 per family, per annum, exclusive of the cost of education.

The English report on A National Housing Policy states: "In the building of houses, owing to the large amount of labour in their erection and in the making of materials and fittings used, the saving in maintenance which must be forthcoming for the men, if left unemployed, is especially great. In England this maintenance is provided through definite insurance or public unemployed allowances, and the amount is known. In Canada public assistance and private charity co-operate and the actual cost is indeterminate. In England it is estimated that for every dwelling not built, about $375 has to be paid for the maintenance of labour that would have been employed in providing a house costing $1,500. It would appear, therefore, to be an actual extravagance to maintain operatives in idleness by not erecting dwellings when these are urgently needed."

From "A Housing Program for the United States" by the National Association of Housing Officials we extract the following: "In time of industrial depression and consequent unemployment, low-cost housing provides one of the most effective and least costly types of relief works because:—

- (a) It does not displace work which would otherwise be undertaken by private enterprise.
- (b) It expends the capital cost mainly in labour widely distributed among the branches of the building industry and others which manufacture the materials, equipment and furnishings.
- (c) It transforms what are at such times idle credits into revenue-earning and self-liquidating assets, which may be regarded, therefore, as investments rather than as debts, and are likely over a long period to prove good investments.
- (d) Owing to the large proportion of labour involved, each dwelling built saves a very substantial sum which might otherwise be spent in the maintenance of the unemployed.
- (e) The provision of good housing and slum clearance produces probably the greatest amount of social amelioration of any comparable kinds of relief work.

Finally, the reference indicates that one of the main objects of the Government is "In order to provide employment" and in such manner as will be most conducive to national recuperation of business—production and industry—through a national policy of house building.

For social and economic recuperation and advance through the relief of unemployment, the fostering of "housing" for the low wage earners now living in undesirable and unhealthy slum conditions is the most promising as distinct from higher class houses for those who can be financed through usual financial methods and agencies.

Evidence has shown that the median line above which financial institutions can reasonably begin to assist is the $3,500 capital cost line.

Below the $3,500 capital cost line the necessary financial set-up is admitted to be non-self-liquidating at commercial rates of interest, i.e., without extraneous aid it cannot approach an equitable human standard of health and amenity.

Low interest assistance for houses above the $3,500 median line will seemingly seriously affect the existing mortgage investments as contracted for and will deter further extension of private funds into the higher classes of residential buildings.

Even with the admitted $3,500 median line restriction on aided "housing" the mortgage companies claim there would still be a sympathetic drop in rentals above the median line. Yet a broad policy of this "housing" will provide one of the best distribution of wages on an investment basis to replace a considerable proportional amount of the present unemployment costs.

TO PROVIDE SUCH DWELLINGS AS MAY BE NECESSARY, UPON SUCH TERMS AND CONDITIONS AS MAY BE BEST ADAPTED TO THE NEEDS AND REQUIREMENTS OF THE PEOPLE

The first consideration is to establish the shortage of dwellings existing in Canada, particularly in respect to adequate shelter for the low wage groups.

From the evidence adduced there appears to be a very substantial shortage due to:—

1. The ever existing normal shortage of such houses by reason that there has never been a purposeful design or construction to meet such requirements by private initiative; and to lack of economic return from this class of building;
2. The "lag" in general dwelling construction since the depression and the concurrent forced neglect and deterioration of the existing dwellings.

The program of assisted housing which the Montreal Committee recommends as necessary for Montreal is:—

1. To liquidate existing slums.
2. To prevent slums on a far greater scale from developing all over the metropolitan area in the future (which is the really important thing).
3. In due time to provide a substantial amount of low rent housing, without aggravating the difficulties of the small proprietors. The proposal is to provide under corporate ownership and collective management 4,000 dwellings per annum for twenty years.

Survey by the Assessment Department in Toronto showed between 7,500 and 10,000 families doubled up.

In Ottawa, during the past four years of financial depressions 5,842 persons were added to our population by natural increase (excess of births over deaths) and at the same time 4,917 more people moved into the city than left, making a total increase in population of 10,759.

At the beginning of this period there was no surplus of low rental houses and during these three years building of that class of houses has been practically at a standstill with the result that many houses which formerly accommodated one family in a satisfactory and sanitary manner are now occupied by two or more families for which they are not adequate.

The Bruce Committee came to the definite conclusion that in the City of Toronto there are at this moment at least 2,000 houses unfit for human habitation and in all probability 3,000 or over. It will take $12,000,000, assuming that they propose to rebuild between three and four thousand houses.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics sets forth that in the good years up to 1929 the value of residential building undertaken in the reporting cities was approximately $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 per year, which would compare closely with the Bank of Nova Scotia figures of $100,000,000 for all Canada, since the increase in the population of these sixty cities equals about one-half of the increase in the population of Canada as a whole. But instead of there being $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 of new residential buildings in these reporting cities during 1933 there was only about seven and a quarter millions of such buildings, and in 1934 this amount was increased somewhat to $8,600,000.

The Chief Sanitary Inspector of Winnipeg states: "We need a large number, probably no less than 1,500 at least, probably quite as many again, of say four rooms."

"One thing that we found in the four districts surveyed was that of the total of 1,890 houses surveyed in the four districts, we found 1,300 rooms used for both cooking and sleeping—families living in rooms that they had to both cook and sleep in to the number of 1,300 rooms."

"During the last five years some 1,466 dwellings have been demolished, of which approximately fifty per cent were demolished on order from the department. The remainder were voluntarily torn down by the owners, but in many cases as a result of a warning from the department. In addition, many dwellings were condemned and closed. Few, if any, new houses have been built to replace these. We have the officers and we have the by-law to take care of sub-standard houses, but we have not the houses to put these tenants in if they are vacated."

Twenty-five thousand dwellings are classed by the Board of Health of the City of Montreal as insanitary.

Mr. J. C. Rancourt states: "Many of our labourers are out of work in the Province of Quebec, and in Montreal in particular there are many workers in the different trades in the construction line, helpers and tradesmen. After four years of this direct relief regime the misery suffered by the workers is at present considerable. A great many of them have been obliged to sell their furniture and to dispose of their insurance policies and to live under deplorable conditions. In many cases two and three families are living in the same flat, and very often some families live in one room. The morale of the people is gradually disappearing. The inspectors of social service have found very serious cases which demonstrate that the morale is decreasing gradually among the working classes."

The Montreal Report shows that nearly 80,000 householders are paying disproportionate rentals. The shortage of low rent dwellings in Montreal is seen to be very great. For a long time there has been a marked shortage in low rent dwellings quite apart from standards of accommodation. The prevailing type of dwelling under the present system of ownership and management fails to provide accommodation for the lower wage earners, at rents they can afford to pay. An acute actual shortage of dwellings is now in sight.

According to the Montreal Report, the approximate incomes and rents payable, by low wage earning groups, are:—

APPROXIMATE INCOMES AND RENTS PAYABLE BY WAGE EARNING GROUPS

Economic Group	Income Range	Average	Proportion Available For Rent	Rent Per Month
1. White collar workers, etc.	\$1,000-1,500	\$1,250	$\frac{1}{3}$	\$34 70
2. Artisans, skilled wage earners	850-1,025	940	$\frac{1}{4}$	19 60
3. Semi-skilled intermediate	650- 850	750	$\frac{1}{5}$	12 50
4. Unskilled, low wage groups	450- 650	550	$\frac{1}{5}$	9 20

According to the census June, 1931, there were 16,502 individuals in Toronto who earned in aggregate, during the preceding 12 months, $10,112,200; an average wage of $613.00.

To the question of what constitutes a minimum standard of decent housing accommodation, the answer of expert opinion is: "The three bedroom and living-room-kitchen house, which can be let within the means of the lower paid wage-earners. A family cannot be adequately accommodated in less than three bedrooms if parents and boys and girls are to be accommodated in different rooms. Quite apart from this problem of "family" accommodation, suitable accommodation will have to be made for those families without children and others whose needs are on a lesser scale, for example, aged people and pensioners.

The dwellings most needed are units "to rent" at a fixed minimum and not those "for sale". The evidence encouraging those with assured employment and good pay to purchase their homes outright does not apply to the lower paid, or migratory, workers. A worker with a low wage may limit his future prospects of employment if he is tied to a locality, as irregularity in employment may prevent his keeping up instalment payments. No such financial obligation should deprive him of freedom to follow up opportunities of finding work elsewhere. Further, if he is in financial difficulties he is unable to keep his property in repair, and is probably forced to sub-let or take in lodgers, thus providing the nucleus of a new slum. Workers should not be obliged to buy their own houses through the absence of the alternative of houses to rent.

Evidence relative to family budgets of low paid workers made by competent investigators, indicates clearly that householders having dependents and whose incomes average between $500.00 and $750.00 per year cannot rightly afford more than from $10.00 to $15.00 per month for rent. Since the monthly earnings of a very large proportion of the workers in this country probably do not exceed $60.00 the problem is to provide houses to rent at $10.00 to $15.00 per month. This scale of rent must cover interest and amortization, insurance, repairs, maintenance, management, taxes, etc., or failing such coverage the shortage must be provided for from some source other than rentals.

The provision of low rental housing means a reduction in the problems of under nourishment, tuberculosis, hospitalization and health, with their attendant social costs; apart altogether from the fact that it also releases a steadier volume of working class purchasing power for the other necessities, comforts, and conveniences of life.

It may also be said that housing at such rents cannot be economically provided—that these minimum rents will not cover the costs. But this again is the very essence of the Housing Problem. There is a point at which private enterprise working on ordinary commercial lines cannot provide for certain groups of the community. The figures quoted above suggest clearly that the unskilled and lowest paid wage earners and at least some proportion of the intermediate and skilled workers are within these groups—approximately 140,000 wage earners, or 80,000 households in the area to which the Montreal Report has reference are included in such groups.

Whether it be as a matter of principle, or as a problem of finance, the public interest is involved in the solution of the housing problem for this part of the population. Granted certain minimum standards of accommodation and amenity, such standards can be secured only by regarding their provision as a public responsibility.

The Bureau of Statistics states: "The Natural increase in the population of Canada in the last three years for which we have a record, 1931-1933, is at the average rate of 130,000 per annum, which, at the average rate of 4.68 per household, would mean an addition of over 27,500 new households per annum."

"The number of permits issued for sixty Canadian cities for the construction of dwellings and for repairs and improvements have dropped from 14,556 in 1929 to 2,609 in 1934."

"The total number of residential contracts awarded in Canada, according to McLean Building Reports, was 25,275 in 1929 and 10,135 in 1934. It would appear from this figure, as it appears from the Bank of Nova Scotia study, that the residential accommodation provided in the last three years has not been much more than one-third of that which is required for the proper housing of the increasing population of the Dominion. It is not an unfair assumption where the average contract is only $3,000, the total residential construction for 1932-1933-1934 would provide homes for some 27,500 households, while the equivalent of some 82,000 households have been added to the population of the Dominion in three years. On this basis some 35,000 additional houses or apartments are needed at this moment to supply the past deficiency and a further 27,500 houses or apartments are needed this season to take care of the increase in the present year."

"Today we have only nine thousand unoccupied dwellings in Montreal and in the meantime the population keeps on increasing at a rate which requires about six thousand new dwellings per annum, of which fully four thousand would be for the low wage earning groups."

The Hygienic Housing League delegate states: "Twenty-five thousand dwellings are classed by the Board of Health of the City of Montreal as insanitary."

The Bruce Report, Toronto, states: "If reasonably full employment were to return and marriages delayed by the depression were to take place, it is possible that a shortage of some 25,000 dwelling units would become apparent."

The Department of Health, Winnipeg, states: "We need a large number, probably no less than 1,500 to 2,000 or more, houses for the low paid workingman."

Summary of evidence of the condition of "housing" shortage is as follows:

	Yearly Requirements	Cumulative Shortage
For Canada—
The Dominion Bureau of Statistics	27,500	55,000
required for 1935		27,500
Total		82,000
For Toronto—
The Bruce Report (for the city of Toronto)	4,000	25,000
Montreal Board of Trade—
The Nobbs Report	4,000–6,000
required for 20 years		80,000
Winnipeg	1,500 to 2,000

Witnesses were of the opinion that because of existing industrial conditions many marriages had been deferred, that the young people had tired of waiting; that there is a much larger increase in the number of families than there is in population for two reasons—the increased number of marriages and the decreasing average size of the family.

For this reason we believe the Bureau of Statistics estimate of the annual increase in the number of families, based on increase of population, underestimates and that in place of the increase of 25,000 families per year it is nearer thirty thousand.

The Bureau of Statistics estimates that there is at present a shortage of 55,000 houses in Canada. This estimate is based on the amount of new building and does not take into consideration houses condemned or that should be condemned as unfit for human habitation. The needs must be much greater than this.

THE COST OF SUCH A POLICY AND THE BURDEN TO BE IMPOSED UPON THE TREASURY OF CANADA

Evidence adduces that the average cost of a "three bedroom, livingroom-kitchen unit type of housing," i.e., a normal standard of family accommodation providing separate sleeping accommodation for parents, boys and girls, is as set forth below. The lesser requirements of those without families and of old people would be relatively less.

	Cost per Living Unit
Cauchon Evidence (two storey type, in groups) . . $	2,500 00
Bruce Report (Toronto)	2,700 00
Nobbs Report (Montreal, including slum clearance) .	3,500 00

It has also been adduced in evidence that the normal average of monthly rent possible of payment by low wage earners ($500 to $1,250 yearly) is $10 to $15 per month. The following statement is based on an average of $12.50 per month on an all-inclusive unit capital expenditure of $2,700 as submitted by the Bruce Report and confirmed by the National Construction Council.

Taxes (land and buildings)	$ 55 00	$ 55 00
Management	15 00	15 00
Insurance	4 00	4 00
Maintenance	40 00	40 00
Amortization in 50 years	16 95	16 95
Interest on $2,700 at 6 per cent.	162 00	at 4% 108 00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$ 292 95	$ 238 95
Less yearly rental at $12.50 per month	150 00	150 00
	<hr/>	<hr/>

It is to be observed that at a yearly rental of $150 ($12.50 per month), there is an annual deficit of $142.95 with interest rate of six per cent and of $88.95 with interest rate of four per cent. Such revenue returns mean that the capital would have to be furnished without interest return, but at the end of the amortization period the capital would have been returned and there would have accrued the equity of land and buildings, which, in view of the adequate provisions allowed against management and maintenance, should be in good physical condition. It is to be noted that the foregoing has been based on a four-roomed dwelling unit, and that, in view of smaller sized units being largely in demand at a uniform rental, the actual showing would be correspondingly enhanced.

There is a close and vital relationship between the rate of interest and the price at which houses can be rented. With provision of funds at low rates of interest there is brought into the line of possible achievement the provision of dwellings of higher grades and accommodations to a degree varying with the relative price of money available. This has been demonstrated in actual experience, as for instance, in the housing undertakings of the Toronto Housing Company, which, with funds guaranteed at five per cent by the City of Toronto to the extent of eighty-five per cent and with capital stock to the extent of fifteen per cent, limited in its earnings to six per cent per annum, provided housing in Toronto during high material cost conditions, on a commercial basis at rents suited to the incomes of tradesmen and white collared classes. There is reason to believe that private capital is available now and in considerable amounts for utilization in a parallel way by organized limited dividend companies under conditions which would allow of the utilization of funds at similar interest rates.

If the Government would advance eighty-five per cent of the necessary funds at five per cent or less, leaving the balance of fifteen per cent to be provided by housing companies or if, as stated by its solicitor in evidence, the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association's members would furnish money to the extent of sixty per cent of the equity involved at five and a half per cent, and the Government advanced twenty-five per cent of the funds at three and a half per cent, this would average a little under five per cent for eighty-five per cent of the equity and leave the balance to be provided by private enterprise, our information is that such a policy would start a large house building program.

The National Construction Council in evidence states that sixty-four per cent of the all-in cost of housing represents labour costs. Therefore, of every $1,000,000 expended on housing $640,000 would be spent in wages. Again, it is estimated that twenty-five per cent of the moneys involved in housing costs in England represents moneys which would otherwise have to be spent in maintenance of unemployed tradesmen if the houses were not built. If this comparison be applicable to Canada, it would mean that of each $1,000,000 expended on house construction $250,000 thereof would be withdrawn from funds now devoted to relief.

If we start from the principle that the provision of a minimum standard house for every family in the country should be adopted as a national responsibility and such principle be adopted, the question would be: "How can such policy be most cheaply and advantageously financed?" It is submitted that this question must be answered: "By the issue of national funds fully guaranteed, administered in a manner and to the extent deemed necessary and to be determined, and enabling a national housing program to be carried out at the lowest possible rates of interest, with minimum building costs, and with the least possible assistance in the form of subsidy."

Such funds, raised under guarantee at minimum rates, would have the effect of widening the range of houses which could be rented at an economic rent without the assistance of subsidy. This would take place to such an extent that it would reduce the need of subsidy in all but those special cases where taxes are high or land expensive or where the minimum economic rent possible in relation to the capital expenditure involved is beyond the worker's capacity to pay.

If a national housing scheme is to achieve the building of working class houses at an economic rent, due advantage must be taken of such low rates of interest as may be possible or may be arranged.

The lower the rent, the less the risk of loss or default, and less the need for a subsidy. Therefore, to minimize the risk and the need for a subsidy, it is important to keep rents as low as possible, and there is nothing which can do more to keep down costs than a low rate of interest. The lower the rent the larger the number who can afford to pay it, and the smaller the number of those who must be assisted directly or indirectly from public funds to do so.

It is believed that with low interest rates, and control over excessive building costs and excessive prices for land, a very large proportion of the needed houses can be built without the aid of any subsidy. When this is impossible, as for example, where it is essential to build houses on expensive sites, or in cases where incomes of low wage earning groups are such as preclude payment of economic rents, a subsidy of some kind will be unavoidable. One of the important tasks is to provide for the securing of full data respecting the extension of subsidies and the conditions and restrictions which should apply to such grants. In principle, it is undesirable that people should be housed on needlessly expensive sites in the middle of towns since the land, if worth the high price asked, must be in demand and could be used more appropriately for other purposes.

There is no justification for allowing those who can afford economic rents to be housed at less cost to themselves in subsidized houses at the expense of the public purse. Selective tenancy, based on the ability to pay, is essential.

Experience shows, and evidence submitted confirms, that the lowest paid sections of the community cannot afford to pay a rent much less a price, for the standard of accommodation with society must from time to time fix in its own interest as a minimum needful to maintain health and social welfare. Such accommodation can not be provided on the basis of rates of interest and profits as would enable the speculative house builder to undertake the work. The difference in rents which may be based on six to eight per cent rates in the one case and in much lower interest rates in the other is vital to the lower paid sections if they are to be benefited by any housing project. The British MacMillan Report claims that in reference to British conditions "a fall from six per cent to four and a half per cent in the rate of interest on loans against houses is nearly as good as a fall of twenty-five per cent in the cost of production, when it comes to calculating the minimum level of rent which will prove profitable. Consequently, unless these houses are built by some public or semi-public organization, which seeks no return beyond the lowest interest possible for well secured capital, the dwellings are not provided at all. These people must depend on occupying houses which their more fortunate neighbours have vacated, overcrowding the same, turning each room into a dwelling, and ultimately creating the slum condition with which all are but too familiar."

The building of dwellings for the lowest income sections of the community is in less danger of competing with any work that private enterprise could or would undertake than any other kind of public works.

Your Committee desires to acknowledge its appreciation of the assistance derived from the British Report of the National Housing Committee, "A Housing Program for the United States," the Toronto (Bruce) Report and the Montreal Board of Trade and Civic Improvement League (Nobbs and Tombs) Report; also from the many experts and other individuals who gave valuable evidence voluntarily and at considerable sacrifice to themselves.

Your Committee also desires to express its appreciation to Mr. Noulan Cauchon for his untiring interest and valuable professional advice and guidance voluntarily extended to the Committee and its Chairman during the entire period of its sessions.

Mr. J. M. Kitchen also contributed liberally and voluntarily of his time and services.

A complete copy of the proceedings and evidence taken before the Committee is tabled herewith.

THE EVIDENCE SUBMITTED HAS EMPHASIZED THE FOLLOWING

1. The term "housing" should be considered to include construction, reconstruction, repairs (rehabilitation), demolition of houses and slum clearance.

2. Housing is primarily the direct responsibility of the individual co-operating with the local authority.

3. A national emergency will soon develop unless the building of dwellings be greatly increased.

4. The formulation, institution and pursuit of a policy of adequate housing should be accepted as a social responsibility.

5. There is no apparent prospect of the low rental housing need being met through unaided private enterprise, building for profit.

6. The magnitude of the task involved in any program designed to eliminate in its entirety the housing problem in Canada is fully realized and appreciated; that such a program would involve intensive, continuous application and effort over a period of years is manifest; but that the initiation of such is imperative is obvious from even the necessarily limited inquiry into prevailing housing conditions in which it has been your Committee's privilege to engage.

7. The accurate determination of the number of houses required to meet the needs of the people, annual and accumulative, and to overtake existing shortage, must necessarily be the subject of intensive direct and statistical investigation. At least the provision of dwelling units to the number of 25,000 should be initiated immediately throughout Canada.

8. Selective tenancy of Government aided housing should be based on total family income and ability to pay economic rent.

9. The acuteness of the housing problem lessens to the degree that the wage scales of low wage earners is improved.

10. Provision should be made for long term mortgages, in view of the long term amortization generally associated with housing.

11. A major item in the financing of housing is interest charges. There is, therefore, a close and vital relationship between interest charges and economic rents.

12. That the principle and institution of mortgage banks, as established in other countries, be investigated with a view to their effect upon the lowering of housing costs.

13. That slum areas have been shown to cast very heavy expenses on many branches of public administration such as health, welfare, fire prevention, administration of justice, etc., may justify public assistance, which is likely to prove as sound financially as it is certainly desirable socially.

14. Against public liabilities may be set certain very real, if in some cases, immeasurable, assets. Good housing means less expenditure on prevention of disease, less crime, greater benefits for education, less unemployability as opposed to unemployment. The elimination of bad conditions has a cash value as well as a moral value to the nation. Further, there are wider economic aspects to consider. Bold and constructive housing projects will increase employment both directly and indirectly through the activity generated. To mitigate any liabilities on the national finances the cost of unemployment would be directly reduced, tangible and needed assets will be created, the yield of sales and income taxes will be increased by the profits of those in building and industry as well as those who benefit from the increased spending power of wage earners employed through the undertaking.

15. Reference made in this report to the low monthly rental possible of payment by low wage earners should not be accepted in any way as indicative of the setting of any wage scale. Government assisted housing should not be taken advantage of to reduce the standard of living.

16. That the initiation of a policy of new construction and particularly of repairs (rehabilitation) will appreciably stimulate private owners to do likewise, will also proportionately release for demolition slum buildings presently retained for want of other accommodation.

17. The construction industry lends itself most effectively to the alleviation of unemployment and consequently to a reduction of those relief charges now being borne by federal, provincial and municipal taxpayers.

YOUR COMMITTEE THEREFORE RECOMMENDS

1. That a Housing Authority be established with power to initiate, direct, approve and control projects and policies, and to allocate such moneys, as in the opinion of Parliament, may be necessary for the purpose of assisting a program of urban and rural housing.

2. That said Authority be authorized to negotiate agreements with any province, municipality, society, corporation or individual with a view to promoting construction, reconstruction and repair of such dwellings as may be necessary, and the extension of financial assistance at such favourable rates of interest, periods of amortization and other terms, as shall encourage housing.

3. That as its first consideration the said Authority be urged to take action in respect to repairs (rehabilitation), presently needed.

4. That such national housing policy be so framed, with respect to provision for employment, as to endeavour to co-relate and co-ordinate the efforts of provincial, municipal and other public authorities, and private agencies in relation thereto.

(For Minutes of Proceedings, etc., accompanying said Report, see Appendix to the Journals, No. 2)

On motion of Mr. Ernst, it was ordered,—That Bill No. 43 (Letter M of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Clarence MacGregor Roberts," the preamble of which was reported as not proven by the Standing Committee on Miscellaneous Private Bills on 28th of March, 1935, be placed on the Order Paper for consideration in Committee of the Whole this day, the 16th of April, 1935.

Mr. Cahan, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 3rd April, 1935, for a Return showing:—

1. How many patent medicines are registered which contain schedule drugs and what precautions are taken to safeguard the public in the case of preparations containing such drugs.

2. Whether preparations containing schedule drugs are manufactured under the supervision of a registered pharmaceutical chemist.

3. What check is being made under the Food and Drugs Act to ascertain that drugs used in patent medicines are chemically pure and biologically active according to government standards.

4. What machinery exists under the Department of Pensions and National Health to control the issuance of patents for medicines.

5. How many patent medicines are now registered under the department.

6. What number of patent medicines have been registered each year for the past ten years and what number of cancellations have occurred during that period.

7. Whether patents granted for medical apparatuses come within the scope of the Department of Pensions and National Health.

8. What precautions in respect to public safety the Government exercises in the granting of patents for apparatuses for the treatment of the human body.

9. What percentage of the personnel, time and pay-roll of the Department of Pensions and National Health, is devoted strictly to items of health.

Mr. Duranleau, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Public Works Construction Act, 1934, 24-25 George V, Chapter 59—Department of Marine.

The following Bill from the Senate was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House, viz:—

Bill No. 64 (Letter R of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Frances Goldberg Joseph."—Mr. Garland (Carleton).

The Bill No. 60, An Act respecting Radio Broadcasting, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment read the third time and passed.

The House resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Rhodes,—That all the amendments proposed by the Senate to Bill No. 15, An Act to amend the Canadian Farm Loan Act, be concurred in, with the exception of amendments Nos. 13 and 14, in which amendments this House does not concur for the following reason: "That farm property being at the present time at its lowest value, a total advance of sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of the appraised value of a farm would secure a much smaller loan than would have been secured at fifty per cent valuation a few years ago."

And that a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint their Honours therewith.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to, on the following division:—

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, 22ND MAY, 1935

PRAYERS.

The Clerk of the House laid upon the Table the twenty-fifth Report of the Clerk of Petitions, stating that he had examined the following petitions presented on the 21st instant, and finds that the time for receiving petitions for private bills having expired, they should not be received, namely:—

Of Lona Marie Vaughan Gravina, of Montreal, Quebec, praying for the passing of an Act to declare her marriage with Piero Franco Gravina, of Montreal, Quebec, presently residing in St. Hubert, Quebec, to be dissolved, and that she be divorced from him.—Mr. White (Mount Royal).

Of The Community, General Hospital, Alms House, and Seminary of Learning of the Sisters of Charity at Ottawa, praying for the passing of an Act to increase from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000 the limitation of property value they are allowed under their Act of incorporation as amended.—Mr. Gagnon.

Mr. Speaker informed the House,—That the Clerk had laid on the Table the Sixth Report of the Examiner of Petitions for Private Bills, which was read as follows:—

Pursuant to Standing Order 99, Section 2, the Examiner of Petitions for Private Bills has the honour to present the following as his Sixth Report:—

Your Examiner has duly examined the following Petition for a Private Bill, and finds that all the requirements of the 95th Standing Order have been complied with in this case, viz:—

The Sarnia-Port Huron Vehicular Tunnel Company.

Mr. Ernst, from the Standing Committee on Marine and Fisheries, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has had under consideration Bill No. 17, An Act to amend the Fisheries Act, 1932. Representations in the form of briefs have been submitted by the different interests concerned in the legislation contemplated, and a statement of the policy of the Department has been made to the Committee on the matter. After consideration, your Committee is of the opinion that the public interest, as a whole, would not best be served by the passing of the proposed legislation.

Your Committee, therefore, has agreed to report, on division, that the necessity for the amendment to the Fisheries Act, 1932, as contained in Bill No. 17, has not been proven to the satisfaction of your committee and should not be passed.

Mr. Ernst, from the Standing Committee on Marine and Fisheries, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has had under consideration the following resolution, referred to your Committee by the House on Wednesday, February 6th:—

“That, in the opinion of this House, in the interests of the fishermen of Nova Scotia, no permits should be granted or renewed with those who own and operate beam trawlers in the province of Nova Scotia.”

Your Committee has agreed to report that, whereas the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Mass Buying has investigated the subject matter of the said resolution and made a report thereon, which may be the subject of discussion and consideration by Parliament, your Committee is of the opinion that no useful purpose would be served by further investigation of the said matter by your Committee at the present session of Parliament.

On motion of Mr. White (Mount Royal), it was ordered,—That the petition of Lona Marie Vaughan Gravina, of Montreal, Quebec, praying for a bill of divorce from Piero Franco Gravina, of Montreal, Quebec, together with the report of the Clerk of Petitions thereon, be referred to the Standing Committee on Standing Orders for the purpose of considering the suspension of Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) in relation thereto.

On motion of Mr. Gagnon, it was ordered,—That the petition of The Community, General Hospital, Alms House, and Seminary of Learning of the Sisters of Charity at Ottawa, praying for the passing of an Act to increase the limitation of the value of property they are allowed to hold, together with the report of the Clerk of Petitions thereon, be referred to the Standing Committee on Standing Orders for the purpose of considering the suspension of Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) in relation thereto.

Mr. Cahan, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 1st April, 1935, for a copy of all orders, rules and regulations issued, (a) by the Department of National Defence; (b) by the Department of Labour; (c) by the Department of the Interior, in any way relating to the operation of Single Men's Unemployment Relief Camps.

Mr. Weir (Melfort), a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 18th March, 1935, for a return showing the disbursement of the sums of $10,000, $20,000, and $20,000 advanced by the Government of Canada to the co-operative organizations in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta respectively, in connection with the recent vote in these provinces regarding the Poultry Marketing Scheme, showing: (a) the names of the parties by provinces to whom said sums were disbursed; (b) the amount received by each; (c) to whom the disbursement of said sums in each province was entrusted.

Mr. MacInnis, from his place in the House, asked leave under Standing Order 31, to move the adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, and stated the subject to be:—

“The acute situation in the city of Vancouver, British Columbia, due to the presence in that city of a large number of men from the Unemployment Relief Camps who are destitute and for whom the city authorities can make no provision, creating a situation which endangers the peace.”

Mr. Speaker decided the motion out of order because the subject matter thereof was not of recent occurrence and the administrative responsibility of the Government was not involved.

From this decision Mr. MacInnis appealed to the House.

And the question being put by Mr. Speaker: Shall the ruling of the Chair be sustained; it was decided in the affirmative, on the following division:—

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 23RD MAY, 1935

PRAYERS.

Mr. Bury, from the Select Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Complying with orders of the House, your Committee has considered the advisability of suspending Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) in relation to the following applications for Private Bills, viz:—

1. Wapiti Insurance Company

The annual meeting of this company was held on February 25, 1935, and it was not until that date that a decision could be made to apply for the proposed legislation.

2. Isabelle H. Sadlier Rice—Divorce

Through inadvertence in the office of one of the lawyers concerned, the filing of the petition was delayed.

3. Jean Taggart Harfield—Divorce

Delay in filing the petition was occasioned by the default of the solicitor first employed by the petitioner in not using for the divorce proceedings the funds supplied to him by her for that purpose, and the time required by the petitioner, who is a waitress in a cafe at small wages, to acquire sufficient moneys to replace the moneys so lost.

4. Lily Usheroff Bruker—Divorce

Illness and lack of money prevented steps being taken earlier to present the petition.

5. Dora Eleanor Mathieson Campbell—Divorce

Important witnesses have been located only recently, while lack of funds has also delayed action being taken.

6. Lona Marie Vaughan Gravina—Divorce

The petitioner's lack of money caused the delay in the filing of the petition.

7. The Community, General Hospital, Alms House and Seminary of Learning of the Sisters of Charity at Ottawa

The promoters, a charitable organization, overlooked the fact that contemplated building operations, increasing beyond the present statutory limit the total value of the properties which would then be held by them, necessitated the procuring of an amendment to their Act of incorporation.

Your Committee recommends that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended in relation to the foregoing applications, and that the petitions be read and received.

Mr. Bennett moved,—That when this House adjourns this day it stand adjourned until Monday the 27th, instant.

On motion of Mr. Bury, the Second Report of the Standing Committee on Standing Orders was concurred in.

Bill No. 65 (Letter T of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Isabelle Hume Sadlier Rice."—Mr. Garland (Carleton).

The following Order of the House was issued to the proper officer under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44:—

By Mr. Luchkovich:—Order of the House for a Return showing:—

1. How many applicants received certificates of naturalization in 1934.
2. How many applicants were refused on grounds of lack of adequate knowledge of English or French.
3. How many were refused for other reasons, stating reasons.
4. Average length of residence of the various applicants. Average length of residence of the applicants who were refused naturalization on grounds of language difficulties, and for other reasons.

Mr. Cahan, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order forthwith.

The Bill No. 63, An Act to create employment by public works and undertakings throughout Canada and to authorize the guarantee of certain railway equipment securities, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, and further progress having been made and reported the Committee obtained leave to consider it again at the next sitting of the House.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, 28TH MAY, 1935

PRAYERS.

Mr. Bury, from the Select Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has given consideration to suspension of Standing Orders 92, 93 (3) (a) and (c), and 95 (1) in reference to the application of Northern Telephone Company, Limited, for a Private Bill.

As the requirements of Standing Order 95 (1) have been complied with, it is unnecessary to suspend that standing order.

This company has a charter from the Province of Ontario, and is permitted, by licence, to carry on business in the Province of Quebec. By securing a Dominion charter, the operations of the company would be facilitated.

The time for filing petitions for private bills had expired before the company discovered the advisability of obtaining a Federal charter, and steps were immediately taken thereafter for that purpose.

The financial position of the company, in your Committee's opinion, justifies the suspension of Standing Order 93 (3) (a) and (c).

Your Committee recommends that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended in relation to this application, and that the petition be read and received.

On motion of Mr. Bury, the said Report was concurred in.

Mr. Guthrie, for Mr. Gordon, by leave of the House, introduced a Bill, No. 75, An Act respecting Fair Wages and Hours of Labour in relation to Public Works and Contracts, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill No. 46, An Act to amend the Weights and Measures Act;

On motion of Mr. Hanson (York-Sunbury), the said Order was discharged and the Bill withdrawn.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill No. 48 (Letter A of the Senate), intituled: "An Act to amend and consolidate the Acts relating to Patents of Invention;

Mr. Cahan moved,—That the said Bill be now read the second time.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said Bill was accordingly read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole;

And the House continuing in Committee;

At six o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker took the Chair and left it, to resume the same at eight o'clock, p.m.

Members of the Senate and of the House of Commons of Canada:

I thank you with a full heart for the loyal and affectionate terms of your Address, which was presented to me by my Prime Minister of Canada at St. James's Palace on the historic occasion on the 8th May, when the Representatives of all my Dominions Overseas gathered to greet The Queen and myself and to offer us their united congratulations and good wishes. So long as we live The Queen and I will never forget that unique and wonderful occasion and the moving words spoken by Mr. Bennett and by those who followed him. In my reply I endeavoured to express the thoughts that filled my heart—thoughts of thankfulness, of pride in all my peoples and of my gladness that their Representatives were gathered together to greet us in our home in the spirit of the family.

Your Address recalls the eventful years through which we have passed; the years of war followed by years of economic difficulty and distress. History will never forget how my people of Canada stood side by side with all my other peoples when danger assailed us. At this time of thanksgiving, let us not forget those maimed or widowed by war, or those who are suffering from unemployment in these anxious years of peace. It is only by mutual help that depression can be fought, opportunities for work increased, and happiness and prosperity restored.

Your Address speaks also of the changes in political relations that my Reign has witnessed. Of my many causes for gladness there is none greater than that, while the bounds of freedom and self-government have been enlarged, so that Canada and the other Oversea Dominions have now attained the fullest nationhood, yet they remain united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and the ties of friendship and brotherhood stand fast as never before. I rejoice that my Silver Jubilee has afforded a signal example of that family feeling. Let us keep that spirit and together fulfil that great task that is laid on all the Nations of the British Empire, to hold high the ideals of service, liberty and peace.

I am touched by the kind and affectionate words in which you refer to The Queen, who throughout my Reign has shared my joys and my sorrows, my labours and my leisure. I thank you also for your reference to visits by members of my family; through them I am enabled to keep in close touch with the development and progress of my peoples Overseas.

I thank you for your prayers, and I pray that the Blessing of Divine Providence may rest on my people of Canada and give them happiness and peace.

(Signed) GEORGE R. I.

11th May, 1935.

No. 77

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 6TH JUNE, 1935

PRAYERS.

Mr. Bury, from the Select Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Complying with Orders of the House, dated June 4 and 5, your Committee has considered the suspension of Standing Orders 92, 93 (3) (a) and (c), and 95 in connection with Petitions for Private Bills, viz:—

1. The Community, General Hospital, Alms House, and Seminary of Learning of the Sisters of Charity at Ottawa.

In a report to the House from your Committee, presented on May 23 last, a recommendation was contained that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended in connection with a petition from this organization, and the House concurred in said recommendation. Since that time, however, the petitioners have been advised by two counsel that the bill, the subject matter of that petition, would be ultra vires this Parliament, and that a reincorporation of the society by an Act of this Parliament would be necessary to effect the purpose of the bill; and, accordingly, they have petitioned anew.

Under the circumstances, your Committee recommends that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended in relation to this second petition. Moreover, in view of the fact that the necessary advertising has been completed in respect of the original petition, and that one advertisement has already been published respecting the new application, it is recommended that further compliance with Standing Order 95, respecting advertising of notice of intention to apply, should also be suspended

2. Hamilton Life Insurance Company.

The Act of incorporation of this company was passed in 1930. Owing to the depression which ensued, the promoters were unable to raise the required capital to permit of a licence being secured to do business.

With the improved business conditions now prevailing, it is hoped at an early date to secure the necessary capital, and the proposed bill is sought to extend the time for applying for such licence.

An undertaking has been given by the company, through the solicitors, to insert one advertisement of the notice in the issue of the Canada Gazette of the 15th instant.

Your Committee recommends that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended, and that further compliance with Standing Order 95 than indicated above be likewise suspended.

3. Cornwall Bridge Company.

Doubt having arisen within the last few days as to the interpretation of the time limit imposed by the Act of incorporation for the commencement of work, it has been deemed desirable to petition for an extension of that time.

The contemplated bridge will provide work for a large number of men, and Canadian materials will be used.

One advertisement has appeared in a local newspaper, and one in the Canada Gazette.

Your Committee recommends that Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended, and that further compliance with Standing Order 95 be also suspended.

Mr. Geary, from the Standing Committee on Railways and Shipping owned, operated and controlled by the Government, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee, in accordance with Order of Reference, March 4, 1935, has considered the Annual Reports respecting the accounts of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, and, in connection therewith has examined the following witnesses:—

Honourable C. P. Fullerton, K.C., Chairman, Board of Trustees, Canadian National Railways;

Mr. J. E. Labelle, K.C., Trustee, Canadian National Railways;

Mr. S. J. Hungerford, President, Canadian National Railways;

Mr. S. W. Fairweather, Director, Bureau of Economics, Canadian National Railways;

Mr. T. H. Cooper, Auditor of General Accounts, Canadian National Railways;

Mr. B. J. Roberts, Comptroller, Government Guarantee Branch, Department of Finance;

Mr. O. A. Matthews, George A. Touche & Company, Accountants and Auditors.

Your Committee had under consideration Bill No. 24, an Act respecting the Canadian National Railways and to authorize the provision of moneys to meet expenditures made and indebtedness incurred during the calendar year 1935, and in its second report presented on the 9th of April, 1935, reported the said Bill without amendment. A full explanation of this Bill was given in the House of Commons by the Minister of Railways and Canals.

Your Committee had under consideration Items Number 293, 294, 295, 296 and 297 (Canadian National Steamships and Maritime Freight Rates Act) Estimates of the fiscal year 1935-1936, approved the same and recommended them to the House in its Third Report dated the 10th of April, 1935.

The Budget for the year 1935 of Canadian National Railways and Canadian National Steamships estimates totals Operating Revenues for the year at $180,000,000 and Operating Expenses at $163,000,000. In addition to Operating Expenses there are sundry other items charged against Operating Revenues including interest on funded debt due to the public amounting to $62,600,000, showing an estimated deficit on the year's operations of $45,000,000. Of this amount, however, $1,020,000 depreciation reserve and $780,000 amortization of discount on funded debt, or $1,800,000 in all, are not required in cash; so that the estimated net cash requirement on deficit account for the year is $44,000,000.

The total capital expenditures for the year, estimated as follows:—

For Additions and Betterments.. . . .	$ 5,279,600 00
For Investments and Securities representing Capital Expenditures.	220,400 00
Total of.	$ 5,500,000 00

call for no special comment beyond the fact that under the item of "Hotels" some $600,000 is provided for opening the Saskatoon Hotel, and $300,000 to continue the construction of the Vancouver Hotel.

By leave of the House, on motion of Mr. Stinson, it was resolved,—That for the remainder of the session, all Private Bills, when presented, be read a first and second time and referred forthwith, and that Standing Order 105, respecting the posting of Private Bills, be suspended.

On motion of Mr. Bury, the Fourth Report of the Standing Committee on Standing Orders was concurred in.

Mr. Stirling, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 4th March, 1935, for a Return showing:—

1. What supplies for the unemployment relief camp at Colter Siding, New Brunswick, were purchased from March 1, 1934, to February 1, 1935.
2. From whom they were purchased.
3. Whether tenders were called or invited for such supplies.
4. If so, who tendered, and the amount of each tender.

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of the 27th May, 1935, for a Return showing the amount paid to the undermentioned persons, respectively, for supplies or services in connection with Valcartier Unemployment Camp, during each of the following years, 1932, 1933, 1934, and 1935, to date, viz: Jos. Gingras, Barnabe Parent, M. B. Berry, and A. J. Blondeau of Loretteville, and Georges Theberge, J. E. Blondeau, Georges Gosselin and Gaudias Letellier of Quebec.

Mr. Stewart (Leeds), a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 29th May, 1935, for a copy of paysheets relating to the work done to the wharf at Grand Aldouane, Kent county, New Brunswick, by the Department of Public Works, during the last fiscal year.

The following Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44:—

By Mr. Dubois:—Order of the House for a Return showing:—

Mr. SPEAKER: When the Hon. member for New Westminster (Mr. Reid) moved on Thursday last for leave to introduce the Bill standing on the Order Paper in his name,—An Act to amend the Bank of Canada Act—he stated in part, as reported at page 3610 of Unrevised Hansard, that “There are two changes contemplated in the proposed Bill; the first is to amend paragraph (b), subsection 3 of section 25, and would empower the Minister to purchase silver for the redemption of dominion notes.”

If it is true that the Bill will do what its sponsor states, empower the minister to purchase silver, then it will be generally agreed that it is out of order on the ground that a private member cannot introduce a measure which involves the expenditure of public moneys.

Upon looking up original section 25, subsection 3 of the Bank Act, I find it reads as follows:—

3. “On the day on which the Bank is authorized to commence business the minister shall transfer to the bank—

(b) silver held by the minister for the redemption of dominion notes valued at the market price of the fine silver content thereof.”

Mr. Reid's amendment proposes to add to the subsection just referred to the following words:—

“and at any time thereafter the minister may transfer to the bank silver held by him for the redemption of dominion notes or hereafter purchased for the redemption of dominion notes valued at the market price of the fine silver content.”

The original section as just quoted provides that "on the day on which the bank is authorized to commence business, the minister shall transfer to the bank silver held by him for the redemption of dominion notes." The amendment provides that "any time thereafter the minister may transfer to the bank silver held by him for the redemption of dominion notes or hereafter purchased for the redemption of dominion notes, etc."

While I do not think the amendment goes as far as Mr. Reid suggests,—that is "empowers" the Minister to purchase silver, it certainly contemplates the purchase of further silver by the Minister and does empower the transfer of silver held by him to the bank.

The purchase of silver by the government certainly involves the expenditure of government moneys. Speaking of silver in the narrow sense as "money", its transfer from the Minister to the bank as authorized by the proposed amendment, involves the expenditure of public moneys. It is quite clear that legislation involving the expenditure of public moneys can only be introduced by a responsible Minister of the Crown upon the recommendation of His Excellency the Governor General. On the ground that the expenditure of public moneys is involved the amending motion is out of order.

It is also, in my opinion, out of order on a second ground. Giving silver the wider meaning of "property" its transfer as proposed by the amendment, involves the disposal or alienation of Crown property. No private member may introduce a measure for this purpose without having first asked the House to agree to an Address for leave to proceed thereon, such leave to be obtained prior to the introduction of the Bill (See Bourinot 4th edition, page 414). No such leave has been obtained.

I therefore rule that the motion to introduce the Bill in question is out of order.

No. 81

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, 12TH JUNE, 1935

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker informed the House,—That the Clerk had laid on the Table the Tenth Report of the Examiner of Petitions for Private Bills, which was read as follows:—

Pursuant to Standing Order 99, Section 2, the Examiner of Petitions for Private Bills has the honour to present the following as his Tenth Report:—

Your Examiner has duly examined the following Petitions for Private Bills, severally praying for the passing of an Act to grant a divorce, and to dissolve the marriage of the petitioner, and finds that the requirements of the 95th Standing Order have been complied with in each case, viz:—

Of Hilda High de Boissière of the City of Montreal, wife of Vernon de Boissière.

Of Jean Taggart Harfield of the City of Montreal, wife of Bernard Lloyd Harfield.

Of Lona Marie Vaughan Gravina of the City of Montreal, wife of Piero Franco Gravina.

Mr. Turnbull, from the Standing Committee on Industrial and International Relations, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has held three sessions and has heard statements from eleven persons with respect to the subject matter of the resolution referred to it for consideration under an Order of the House of Commons, dated January 31, 1935, which resolution reads as follows:—

“Resolved that in the opinion of this House the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act should apply to blind people over forty years of age.”

The Committee has under instructions of the House of Commons reconsidered the said resolution, together with the instructions of the House of Commons

"That they have power to amend their second report by recommending that the House pass a special Blind Act applicable to the nine provinces of the Dominion and providing pensions for the blind over forty years of age on the same basis as the Old Age Pensions Act."

As persons seventy years of age and over, whether blind or not, fall within the application of the Old Age Pensions Act in its present form, your Committee considered the position of the blind persons between the ages of forty and seventy.

Evidence submitted to the Committee indicated that the Old Age Pensions Act is in force in only seven provinces out of nine and its provisions therefore when amended will not affect blind persons living in the remaining two provinces unless these provinces subsequently adopt the Old Age Pensions Act or the proposed amendments thereto.

It is also indicated that records of organizations interested in the blind place the number of the blind between forty and seventy years of age at 3,016 in the whole nine provinces. After making fair deductions, it was stated that approximately 2,600 persons would be affected by legislation requested by the said resolution. These figures are sufficiently in harmony with census returns to be considered reasonably accurate.

The estimated expenditure by the Dominion Government on the present basis of contribution, occasioned by the proposed legislation, if the above figures are accurate and allowing the maximum of $240 per person per annum, would be under $500,000 apart from administration expenses and the expense for the present fiscal year would probably be less than $125,000.

The Committee regrets that an amendment to the Old Age Pensions Act may result in lack of assistance in those provinces that may not feel inclined to adopt appropriate legislation to bring such amendment into effect within their respective borders.

In view of all the circumstances, including possible constitutional difficulties the Committee recommends that the Government of Canada consider amendments to the Old Age Pensions Act in such manner as to make the Act apply to blind persons of forty years of age and over. The Committee are of the opinion that in drafting such amendment provision should be made whereby any province might by appropriate Provincial action, provide for the operation of that portion of the Act dealing with pensions for the blind without the necessity of providing for the operation of the whole act within such Province.

On motion of Mr. Bennett, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Gray be substituted for that of Mr. Urquhart on the Standing Committee on Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines.

Mr. Stewart (Leeds), a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Public Works Construction Act, 1934, Chapter 59, 24-25 George V.—The Department of Public Works.

Mr. Stirling, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Public Works Construction Act, 1934, Chapter 59, 24-25 George V.—The Department of National Defence.

Mr. Dupré, a Member of the King's Privy Council, for Mr. Gordon, laid before the House,—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Relief Act, 1934, as follows:—

Order in Council, P.C. 1537, dated June 8, 1935: authorizing payment to the Province of Ontario of the sum of $297.68 for construction of provincial roads other than Trans-Canada Highway.

Order in Council, P.C. 1538, dated June 8, 1935: authorizing payment to the Province of Ontario of the sum of $10,938.40 for municipal works in the town of Orillia.

The following Bills, were by leave of the House, respectively introduced, read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House, viz:—

Bill No. 99, An Act respecting Radio Broadcasting. —Mr. Duranleau.

Bill No. 100, An Act to amend the Post Office Act.—Mr. Guthrie.

Mr. Speaker informed the House.—That the Clerk had laid on the Table the Eleventh Report of the Examiner of Petitions for Private Bills, which was read as follows:—

Pursuant to Standing Order 99, Section 2, the Examiner of Petitions for Private Bills has the honour to present the following as his Eleventh Report:—

Your Examiner has duly examined the following Petition for a Private Bill, praying for the passing of an Act to grant a divorce, and to dissolve the marriage of the petitioner, and finds that the requirements of the 95th Standing Order have been complied with in this case, viz:—

Of Dora Eleanor Mathieson Campbell of the City of Charlottetown, Province of Prince Edward Island, wife of James Oliver Clair Campbell.

Mr. Turnbull, from the Standing Committee on Industrial and International Relations, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has considered the following resolution as amended which has been referred to it and which is in the following terms:—

“Resolved, whereas great numbers of Canadian Seamen on the Pacific Coast of British Columbia are out of employment and in many cases destitute; and whereas owners of ships and vessels of Canadian Registry on the Pacific Coast of British Columbia give employment in large measure to seamen, cooks, and engineers of Oriental origin; and whereas other countries give greater consideration to the employment of their own nationals on ships and vessels belonging to their own country; and whereas the Canadian Government grant large sums of money to the owners of ships and vessels by way of subsidies; and whereas it is desirable that every encouragement be given for the employment of officers, seamen, cooks and engineers of white Canadian citizenship in preference to those of Oriental origin on all Canadian owned and registered ships and vessels; therefore be it resolved that the question of employment of greater numbers of white Canadian citizens on all ships and vessels of Canadian ownership and registry, the owners of which receive grants of money from the public treasury of Canada, be referred to the Standing Committee on Industrial and International Relations."

No evidence was submitted to the Committee to indicate the numbers of Canadian seamen on the Pacific Coast of British Columbia who were out of employment or destitute nor with respect to the consideration given by other countries to the employment of their own nationals on ships and vessels belonging to their own country.

According to the evidence submitted to the Committee, money is paid from the Public Treasury of Canada to owners of ships of Canadian ownership and registry in two ways—one by direct subsidy or grant and second for carriage of mails. Your Committee is of opinion that the latter form of payment is pursuant to contract for service and is not a grant and is therefore not within the terms of the reference.

Again, according to the evidence, there are ships engaged in coastwise trade and others plying between Canada and Oriental ports, some carrying freight and some carrying passengers as well. Some of these ships carry mail for the Post Office Department as a condition of receiving a subsidy from the Department of Trade and Commerce and some receive a subsidy from the latter Department and are paid an additional amount for their services to the Post Office.

With respect to subsidized trans-Pacific trade it appears from the evidence that there is no contract between any department of the Government and the Steamship Lines engaged in such trade requiring the employment of any proportion of white Canadian citizens. It was represented by witnesses from the departments of Government concerned that with respect to freight traffic, Canadian lumber is being carried into a highly competitive market in competition with subsidized American ships carrying American lumber, and that any change that might result in increased cost might endanger that portion of Canadian export trade. And that with respect to the passenger trade there is the additional difficulty in employment of white Canadian citizens where a substantial portion of the passengers are oriental.

The evidence submitted establishes that the ships engaged in the coastwise trade, the owners of which receive subsidies, are required by contract to employ British subjects to the extent of two-thirds of their full personnel but these British subjects are not required by the contract to be white Canadian citizens. This term of the contract is being fully carried out in all cases and as a matter of fact it appears that more than the required two-thirds are white as well as British. The evidence established to the Committee that no change in the contracts with respect to employees has been made in recent years.

Your Committee are of the opinion that while in view of economic conditions and the keen competition existing for international trade the carriage of freight and passengers should not be unduly hampered and while it appears from the evidence that owners of ships referred to are making reasonable efforts to comply not only with their contracts but with the spirit of the resolution referred to the Committee, nevertheless the Departments of Government concerned should be urged to continue to keep close check on the operations of such ships so as to secure the employment of as many white Canadian citizens as is reasonably possible.

A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence is tabled herewith.

(For Minutes of Proceedings, etc., accompanying said Report, see Appendix to the Journals, No.3)

Mr. Sauvé, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 10th June, 1935, for a copy of all notices, tenders, contracts, letters, telegrams, memoranda, recommendations, communications, correspondence and documents since January 1, 1935, in the possession of the Post Office Department with respect to the contract for carrying the mail between Birchtown and railway station, Shelburne county, N.S.

3. At what rates of pay to the workmen these projects were to be carried on.

4. Number of men employed on each project and for how long.

5. Whether the work has ceased on any of them.

6. If so, on which project and for what reasons.

Mr. Dupré, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of the 3rd June, 1935, for a copy of the report of Inspectors Pouliot and Beauchamp, of the Quebec postal district, with respect to the inspection of the post office at St-Joseph d'Alma, Quebec, the 6th, 7th and 8th December, 1933.

He also laid before the House, for Mr. Gordon,—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Relief Act, 1935, as follows:—

Order in Council, P.C. 1548, dated June 11, 1935: appointing A. B. Wenaus at a salary of $110 per month as a clerk in connection with the supervision and control of moneys advanced to the Government of Saskatchewan for direct relief and other relief purposes in the dried-out areas of the said province.

Order in Council, P.C. 1549, dated June 11, 1935: authorizing loan to the Province of Manitoba of the sum of \$218,000 for the purpose of enabling the said province to pay its share of direct relief expenditures for May accounts payable in June, 1935, accepting as security therefor Treasury Bill of the said province bearing interest at the rate of $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent per annum.

Order in Council, P.C. 1550, dated June 11, 1935: renewing loan of \$750,000 made to the Province of Alberta under authority of Order in Council, P.C. 1046, dated May 21, 1934, accepting as security therefor Treasury Bill of the said province bearing interest at the rate of $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent per annum.

Mr. Stewart (Leeds), a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House.—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Public Works Construction Act, 1934, Chapter 59, 24-25 George V.—Department of Public Works.

Mr. Woodsworth, from his place in the House, asked leave under Standing Order 31, to move the adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing a definite matter of urgent public importance, and stated the subject to be:—

“The situation with regard to the relief camp strikers now marching towards Ottawa and according to reports to be stopped by orders from Ottawa.”

MR. SPEAKER: "I would point out that substantially the same people are referred to in the motion of the honourable member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Woodsworth), as were referred to in the motion of the honourable member for Vancouver South (Mr. MacInnis). The situation concerning those involved is very much the same as existed at the time the honourable member for Vancouver South (Mr. MacInnis) moved his motion, the scene of action having merely moved from Vancouver to Regina. Nothing has apparently arisen since May 22, the date upon which the honourable member for Vancouver South (Mr. MacInnis) moved his motion, concerning the matters under discussion which would in my opinion warrant me in coming to a different conclusion than I did on the previous motion. In fact there are now even stronger reasons for ruling the present motion out of order. Three weeks have elapsed since the first motion was moved and there have been opportunities when the subject matter of this motion could have been discussed without recourse to the special provision of this standing order. If I were right on the former occasion, and I think I was, I have greater reason now to rule this motion out of order, which I accordingly do."

From this decision Mr. Woodsworth appealed to the House.

And the question being put by Mr. Speaker: Shall the ruling of the Chair be sustained; it was decided in the affirmative, on the following division:—

The Order being read for consideration of amendments made by the Senate to the Bill 70, An Act to amend the Weights and Measures Act;

Mr. Hanson (York-Sunbury) moved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint their Honours that this House hath agreed to all the amendments made by the Senate to amend Bill No. 70, An Act to amend the Weights and Measures Act, except sub-clause (5) of section 10 proposed to be added to the Bill by the sixth amendment, which is not agreed to for the following reasons:—

“ If allowed to stand, this section would practically nullify section 63 of the Weights and Measures Act in so far as its enforcement in connection with pre-packaged articles is concerned.

“ Evidence of short weight under the Weights and Measures Act must be obtained by a test purchase, usually made by independent shoppers.

“ Such being the case, it is pointed out that to get the ‘ average weight or measure of a reasonable number of other articles of the same kind on the same occasion ’ is clearly impossible. It is not practicable to purchase what might be considered ‘ a reasonable number of articles of the same kind ’ and an inspection of pre-packaged articles in a store by an inspector, either before or after the making of a test purchase, is not ‘ on the same occasion ’.

“ The trader is adequately safeguarded against picayune or vexatious prosecutions, by the fact that all proceedings under Section 63 of the Act must receive the consent of the Minister of Trade and Commerce in writing.

“ The amendment proposed by the Senate is substantially the same as Section 10 of the Imperial Sale of Foods Act. In addition that Act provides that an inspector can compel the trader to sell him short weight articles as evidence for prosecution when short weight in pre-packaged articles is found on inspection on the trader’s premises.

“ Such authority is not contained in the Canadian Weights and Measures Act, which renders the proposed amendment unnecessary while making the enforcement of Section 63 extremely difficult in so far as pre-packaged articles are concerned.”

And that the Clerk of the House do carry the said Message to the Senate.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill No. 88 (Letter E2 of the Senate), intituled: “ An Act to amend the Admiralty Act, 1934 ”;

Mr. Guthrie moved,—That the said Bill be now read the second time.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said Bill was accordingly read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The House went into Committee of the Whole to consider a proposed Resolution to authorize the raising, by way of loan, under the provisions of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, an amount not to exceed in the whole the sum of $750,000,000.

No. 87

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 20TH JUNE, 1935

PRAYERS.

Mr. Stinson, from the Standing Committee on Miscellaneous Private Bills, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has had under consideration the following Bills and has agreed to report them without amendment, viz:—

Bill No. 89 (Letter F2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Muriel Mabel Muttart.

Bill No. 90 (Letter G2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Emile Fossion.

Bill No. 91 (Letter H2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Eva Bennett.

Bill No. 92 (Letter I2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Helen Gertrude Bryant Wilson.

Bill No. 93 (Letter J2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Gladys Sarah Jenkinson Weeks.

Bill No. 94 (Letter K2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Mary Elizabeth Taylor Nicholson.

Bill No. 102 (Letter P2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Jean Taggart Harfield.

Bill No. 103 (Letter Q2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Lily Usheroff Bruker.

Bill No. 104 (Letter R2 of the Senate), An Act for the relief of Hilda High de Boissière.

Bill No. 111 (Letter O2 of the Senate), An Act to incorporate The Community, General Hospital, Alms House and Seminary of Learning of the Sisters of Charity at Ottawa, Canada.

Mr. Bennett, from the Special Committee on Bill No. 98, Canadian Grain Board Act, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee recommends that it be given leave to print its day to day Proceedings and Evidence, 800 copies in English and 250 copies in French, and that Standing Order 64 be suspended in relation thereto;

Also that leave be given to sit while the House is sitting.

Mr. Turnbull, from the Special Committee of the House of Commons, appointed to study and report on the best method by which the British North America Act may be amended so that while safeguarding the existing rights of racial and religious minorities and legitimate provincial claims to autonomy, the Dominion Government may be given adequate power to deal effectively with urgent economic problems which are essentially national in scope, presented the Second and Final Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has held ten sessions and has heard the opinions of a number of witnesses.

Under the instructions of the Committee, telegrams were sent to the respective Attorneys General of the nine provinces in the following terms:—

“The Special Committee of the House of Commons on the British North America Act desires to have the views of your Government with respect to methods of securing amendments to said Act. The Resolution referred to the Committee follows: ‘Resolved that in the opinion of this House a Special Committee should be set up to study and report on the best method by which the British North America Act may be amended so that while safeguarding the existing rights of racial and religious minorities and legitimate provincial claims to autonomy, the Dominion Government may be given adequate power to deal effectively with urgent economic problems which are essentially national in scope.’ While the Committee does not object to the personal attendance of a representative of your Government it was thought less costly to ask for a written submission. Copies of proceedings have been sent you. Please intimate when we may expect to receive your submission.”

The following answers were received:—

Prince Edward Island.—“Your wire March twenty-seventh. Government of Prince Edward Island is of opinion that Dominion Government should formulate its plan and policy for the purposes intended and that this should be submitted to the Provincial Governments and afterwards discussed at a conference of representatives of the Provinces and the Dominion.” Signed by H. F. MacPhee, Attorney-General.

New Brunswick.—“Will wire views as soon as available. Delay unavoidable.” Signed by W. H. Harrison, Attorney-General. (New Brunswick views not yet received.)

Nova Scotia.—“Our legislature now in session and most difficult to attend to matter of this kind now in way you suggest. We feel matter should be approached by conferences between representatives of Provinces and Dominion where each would have the views of the other and ample time to discuss the matter.” Signed by J. H. MacQuarrie, Attorney-General.

Quebec.—“Your telegram received. Surely the Committee cannot expect that the views of the Province of Quebec will be discussed by a change of telegrams or letters. In a matter of such importance I suggest that a conference of the Dominion and the Provinces should be held.” Signed by L. A. Taschereau, Attorney-General.

Ontario.—“Province of Ontario does not desire to make any representation before your Committee re British North America Act amendment as no good purpose will be served by attempting to advise Dominion Government at this time.” Signed by A. W. Roebuck, Attorney-General.

Manitoba.—"With further reference to your telegram of the 27th March, to the Attorney-General and to his reply of the 5th instant, the Government have now had an opportunity of giving consideration to the suggestion that it should make a written submission regarding the subject matter that is before your Committee.

The Government of Manitoba is of the opinion that the subject matter referred to in the Resolution is one of such importance that no written submission, setting out our views in reference to it, should be made without a Conference with the other Provinces and the Dominion Government. We would be willing to attend such a Conference at any time, with a view to arriving at a definite method of procedure for making amendments to the British North America Act." Signed by John Bracken.

Saskatchewan.—"Referring to your telegram of the twenty-seventh day of March wherein you request the Government of the Province to make representations either orally or by written memoranda as to the methods of procedure which this Province would suggest in connection with amendments to the Canadian Constitution I would say that I have been following with intense interest the proceedings of your Committee. The question of what if any provision is to be made for amendment of the Canadian Constitution from time to time is a question which ultimately must be decided by conferences between the Governments of the Provinces and the Government of Canada with the possibility of a previous preliminary inter-Provincial conference. In view of this fact it would appear to be unwise for the Provinces to be giving their views before a Committee of the House of Commons. With due deference might I be permitted to suggest that the proper procedure is for your Committee to pursue its present inquiry and to make a report to the House of Commons which I presume will either be accepted or amended or merely received without binding the Government to accept the proposals of the Committee and with this Report available the Provinces could then give consideration as to what attitude they desired to take and perhaps discuss the matter amongst themselves and thereafter join with the Federal Government in a general Conference. The Report of your Committee would serve as a basis of discussion around which would take place the ultimate solution of this problem. We realize that the question is one of great national importance and should be decided in the welfare of Canada free of all political considerations and we are certainly prepared to do our share towards the facilitating of a solution but we feel that we must look after the interests of the Province and think that the procedure I have outlined would be the proper course for us to adopt at this time." Signed by T. C. Davis, Attorney-General.

Alberta.—"Re amendment B.N.A. Act Alberta Government appreciate desire of Committee to have views of all Provinces before it on this very vital question but considers approach to question should be through interchange of views at Inter-provincial conference." Signed by Mr. Lymburn.

British Columbia.—"Reference your wire twenty-seventh to Attorney-General requesting written submission from the Government of this Province to your Committee it is the opinion of the Government that amendment of the Constitution is too important a matter to be dealt with in manner suggested. It is not thought that satisfactory conclusions can be reached either federally or provincially until a conference of the Provinces and the Dominion is held when full discussion may be had and matters properly debated. Other than stating that the right should be secured to amend our constitution in Canada this Province respectfully declines to make submission to your Committee, neither will it feel bound by any report which may be made by your Committee." Signed by T. D. Pattullo.

In no case did the authorities of these Provinces signify any desire to present their views to your Committee, either in writing or orally.

The Committee recognizes that there is a divergence of opinion with respect to the question of whether or not the British North America Act is a statutory recognition of a compact among the four original provinces of the Dominion and as to the necessity or otherwise of provincial concurrence in amendments. Without expressing any opinion upon that question, the Committee feel that in the present case and at the present time it is advisable in the interest of harmony and unity that there should be consultation with the Provinces with respect to the adoption of a definite mode of amendment or the enactment of amending legislation which might seriously alter the legislative jurisdiction of the Provinces and the Dominion.

Many interesting suggestions were made. Dr. Kennedy, Professor of Law at Toronto University, suggested that a Royal Commission should be appointed to study the workings of the Act, with a view to recommending a rearrangement of powers if thought necessary.

Dr. Ollivier, K.C., LL.D., Joint Law Clerk of the House of Commons, suggested that:—

- (a) Obsolete sections should be dropped.
- (b) Certain sections should be subject to amendment without consultation of the Provinces.
- (c) Certain sections should be amended only with the concurrence of a majority of the Provinces.
- (d) Certain sections might be amended with the consent of one Province only.
- (e) Other sections should be amended only on consent of all the Provinces.

Dr. Scott, Professor of Civil Law at McGill University, expressed the view that as the Dominion Parliament represented the population of the Provinces, ordinary amendments should be made upon a majority vote of both Houses and amendments affecting minority rights should be approved in addition by all Provincial Legislatures, in order to become Law.

Professor Rogers, Professor of Political Science at Queens University, suggested that a Dominion-Provincial Conference or a National Convention might appoint a Committee to draft an amended constitution to be thereafter approved by the Conference or Convention and subsequently by the Dominion and Provincial Legislatures. He was of the opinion that the question of consulting the Provinces was a matter of political expediency rather than one of legal right.

Dr. Beauchesne, C.M.G., K.C., LL.D., Clerk of the House of Commons, would have a new Constitution drafted by a constituent assembly composed of delegates representing the various Provinces and the Dominion, made up of all classes of people. The Constitution so drafted would be thereafter adopted by the Dominion and the Provinces, approved by the King, and the present Act thereupon repealed.

The Committee recognizes the urgent necessity for prompt consideration of amendments to the British North America Act with reference to a redistribution of legislative power and to clarify the field of taxation.

It is further of opinion that the conference hereafter proposed should carefully consider the adoption of a recognized yet flexible method of amendment.

In view of the fact that the several Provinces did not feel it advisable to give the Committee the benefit of their views with respect to the method of procedure to be followed in amending the Constitution, the Committee is of the opinion that before any decision upon the subject matter of the Resolution is finally made, the opinions of the Provinces should be obtained otherwise, if at all possible, and for that reason recommends that a Dominion-Provincial Conference be held as early as possible in the present year to study the subject matter of the Resolution. The proposed Conference should have ample time in which to study every phase of the question.

In view of the above recommendation the Committee expressly refrains from recommending any form of procedure for amendment so as to leave the proposed Conference entirely free in its study of the question, except that the Committee is definitely of the opinion that minority rights agreed upon and granted under the Provisions of the British North America Act should not be interfered with.

Mr. Guthrie, for Mr. Rhodes, moved, That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

Mr. Speakman, seconded by Mr. Irvine, moved in amendment thereto: That all the words after the word " That " be struck out and the following added as a substitute therefor:—

Whereas: The rapid growth of public and private debt, which must inevitably continue under our present financial system if public services are to be maintained and extended and production carried on, together with the increasing disparity between the real wealth of this country and the purchasing power which would make this wealth available for common use, render it imperative that a reorganization of our financial system should be undertaken as a logical first step in any reconstruction program; and

Whereas: No measure or policy has been as yet enacted or proposed by either major party in this House by way of dealing in an effective manner with the foregoing situation; and

Whereas: The issue and control of finance in all its phases is the Constitutional prerogative of Federal authority, and the provision of a satisfactory system of finance is the undoubted responsibility of the Dominion Parliament;

Therefore be it resolved: That this Parliament re-assume its direct control over the public credit of Canada with a view to:—

Reorganizing the financial system of this country on the basis of our ability to produce and deliver goods and services;

Financing all public works and construction at cost, repayment to be made at the rate of the annual deterioration of the asset so created; and Instituting such system of management and control as will best maintain an equitable level of purchasing power and prices, thus avoiding the alternate evils of inflation and deflation.

And further be it resolved: That this Parliament recognize the right of every citizen to a share in that accumulated social heritage by means of which modern production has become so efficient, and is of the opinion that the social credit based upon this heritage should be drawn upon to the extent necessary and advisable in the increase and maintenance of the standards of living in this country, and that this may be done through the payment of annual dividends to:

All Canadians who are sixty years of age or over;

Those who are physically or mentally incapacitated; and

Those who would be entitled thereto under the terms of an effective system of National Insurance against unemployment or crop failure, or a National system of Mothers' and Orphans' Allowance, or of Widows' Pension.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said proposed amendment; it was negatived.

And the question being again proposed on the main motion: That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair;

And a Debate arising thereon and continuing;

On motion of Mr. Bennett, it was ordered,—That the motion adopted on the 28th June, 1935, with respect to the Senate amendment to Bill 99 be rescinded and the following substituted therefor:—

Resolved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint their Honours that this House disagrees with their amendments to Bill 99, An Act respecting Radio Broadcasting, for the following reasons:—

(1) Bill 99 purported to amend The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act, 1932, only to the extent that Chapter 35 of the Statutes 1932-33, An Act to amend The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act, 1932, assented to on the 23rd May, 1932, should continue in force until the 31st March, 1936.

(2) The amendment proposed by the Senate would have the effect of limiting the duration of the life of The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act, 1932, to the 31st March, 1936.

(3) It is desirable that Bill No. 99 should be redrafted or amended so as to provide that The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act, 1932, should remain in force indefinitely, but that the amendments made by Chapter 35 of the Statutes 1932-33 to such Act should continue in force until the 31st March, 1936.

And this House respectfully suggests that the Senate should take the appropriate action to that end.

And,—That the Clerk of the House do carry the said Message to the Senate.

Mr. Bennett, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Copy of Convention of Commerce entered into between Canada and Poland, signed at Ottawa, July 3, 1935.

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of the 12th June, 1935, for a copy of all correspondence, letters, telegrams and other documents, exchanged from 1931 to date between the Honourable Minister of Public Works or his department and any other persons, respecting the deepening of the river bed of Rivière aux Hurons, province of Quebec.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Rhodes moved,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

On motion of Mr. Bennett, seconded by Mr. Mackenzie King, an Address was voted to His Excellency the Governor General, in the following words:—

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF BESSBOROUGH, a Member of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of The Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and St. George, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:

We, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled, assure Your Excellency of our deep and sincere regret at the approaching termination of your official connection with our country as the representative of His Gracious Majesty. At the same time we hasten to add the hope that this official termination will not mean the severance of those ties which have so happily been established between Your Excellency and our country and its people.

During your term of office Your Excellency has never spared yourself in your efforts to secure accurate and intimate knowledge of all parts of our Dominion. You have, accordingly, gained an understanding of our problems and our possibilities, as profound as it has been sympathetic. Your assiduous devotion to the affairs of State, and your deep and human interest in the widespread activities of our people have won for you the warm regard of all Canadians. Your encouragement of dramatic art, an important but often neglected aspect of our national development, will be felt for long years to come.

Your Excellency has been with us during a period of world-wide economic depression and social strain. You have seen the effects of that depression on our national economy. You have, however, also seen its failure to destroy our national morale. Amidst the tribulations of economic distress, as in the stern test of war, Canada has stood firm, and, with renewed courage and determination, is ready again to continue her forward march.

Our expressions of regret at Your Excellency's departure would, indeed, be incomplete if we did not associate in that regret Her Excellency, The Countess of Bessborough, whose graciousness and charm have won for her an affection throughout Canada which is both deep and widespread.

We beg that on your return to your homeland Your Excellency will convey to His Majesty the assurance of Canada's steadfast loyalty to the Crown and devotion to His Throne and person, so strikingly demonstrated in the recent and unforgettable celebrations attendant upon His Majesty's Silver Jubilee.

On motion of Mr. Bennett, seconded by Mr. Mackenzie King, it was—

Resolved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate, informing Their Honours that this House has passed an Address to His Excellency the Governor General on the occasion of the approaching termination of His Excellency's official connection with this country, and request that Their Honours unite with this House in said Address.

1. That a combine may exist with respect to a subject matter other than a commodity, and it is the purpose of the act to deal with such a combine.

2. That it is the intention of the act to deal with a condition where a combination, merger, trust or monopoly has operated or is likely to operate to the detriment or against the interest of the public.

3. To substitute "designed" for "likely" would involve a proof of intention which experience has indicated it is difficult to establish.

And that the Clerk of the House do carry the said Message to the Senate.

Mr. Manion, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of an Order in Council passed under the provisions of the Public Works Construction Act, 1935,—Department of Railways and Canals.

Mr. Stirling, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of The Public Works Construction Act, 1934, Chapter 59, 24-25 George V, and Supplementary Public Works Construction Act, 1935,—Department of National Defence.

Mr. Murphy, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Copies of Orders in Council passed under the provisions of the Supplementary Public Works Construction Act, 1935,—Department of the Interior.

The amendment made by the Senate to Bill No. 120, An Act for the purpose of establishing in Canada a system of Long Term Mortgage Credit for Fishermen, was taken into consideration and agreed to.

The Order being called for Consideration of Amendments made by the Senate to Bill No. 86, An Act to establish a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission;

On motion of Mr. Bennett it was Resolved,—That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint their Honours that this House concurs in all the amendments made by the Senate to Bill No. 86, An Act to establish a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission, except the following amendments:—

This House accepts the amendment to section 14 if there is added after the word "the" and before the word "opinion" in the second line thereof the word "unanimous" so that it would read "in the unanimous opinion".

This House doth not agree in the amendment made to section 20 for the following reason:—

That it is regarded as a bad precedent to state in a statute that anybody can direct those who violate the statute to cease or desist, for if there is a breach to the knowledge of the Commission, it should be its duty to take appropriate proceedings for the enforcement of the law in that regard.

The amendment at the end of line 29 in section 21 is not agreed to for the reason that under the special circumstances in this case it is desirable that the director of prosecutions should not be an official of the Department of Justice, although in carrying out his work he is under the superintendence of the Minister.

This House does not agree to the deletion of section 26, which is regarded as an important section, if in the opinion of the Secretary of State it is desirable to make investigations for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the capital structure of any company is not in accordance with the principles of the Companies Act.

This House does not agree to the amendment to new section 28 for the reason that it is not desirable that the right of the provincial authorities to institute criminal proceedings should be dependent upon the leave of the commission.

And that the Clerk of the House do carry the said Message to the Senate.

The amendment made by the Senate to Bill No. 99, An Act respecting Radio Broadcasting, was taken into consideration and agreed to.

The amendments made by the Senate to Bill No. 73, An Act to amend the Criminal Code, were taken into consideration and severally agreed to.

The Bill No. 105, An Act to amend the Dominion Elections Act, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, reported with amendments, considered as amended, read the third time and passed, on division.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Ways and Means.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:—

Resolved, That towards making good the Supply granted to His Majesty on account of certain expenses of the Public Service for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1936, the sum of $16,359,978.34 be granted out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada.

Resolution to be reported.

By leave of the House the said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in.

Mr. Rhodes then, by leave of the House, presented a Bill No. 122, An Act, for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1936, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading later, this day.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill without amendment:—

Bill No. 121, An Act respecting the Convention of Commerce between Canada and Poland, signed at Ottawa, July 3, 1935.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter which he had received:—

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S SECRETARY, CANADA

OTTAWA, July 5, 1935.

SIR,—

I have the honour to inform you that His Excellency the Governor General will proceed to the Senate Chamber to-day at 2.15 p.m. for the purpose of proroguing the present Session of Parliament.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

F. L. C. PEREIRA,

Assistant Secretary to the Governor General.

The Honourable

The Speaker of the House of Commons, Ottawa.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate do insist upon its first amendment to Bill No. 79, An Act to amend the Combines Investigation Act, to which the House of Commons has disagreed, for the following reasons:—

"That the whole intent and purpose and letter of the Combines Investigation Act has to do with the restriction of trade and commerce, and the Bill in many other particulars shows that it is carefully and strictly following out that purpose. It deviated from it only in this one point. Its constitutional justification is trade and commerce."

And that the Senate do not insist upon its third amendment to which the House of Commons has disagreed.

On motion of Mr. Bennett it was resolved that a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint their Honours that this House agrees to the first amendment made by the Senate to Bill No. 79, An Act to amend the Combines Investigation Act, to which this House had previously disagreed.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the Bill No. 98, An Act to provide for the Constitution and Powers of the Canadian Wheat Board, with amendments which are as follows:—

1. Page 4, line 12. Leave out the words “as speedily”.
2. Page 4, line 49. After “(k)” insert “with the approval of the Governor in Council”.

On motion of Mr. Bennett the amendments made by the Senate to the Bill No. 98, An Act to provide for the Constitution and Powers of the Canadian Wheat Board, were taken into consideration and severally agreed to.

The Bill No. 116, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1936, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The Bill No. 122, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1936, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the Bill No. 105, An Act to amend the Dominion Elections Act, 1934, without amendment.

Also,—A Message was received from the Senate returning the Bill (86), “An Act to establish a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission,” and to acquaint this House,

(1) That in respect of Section 14 the Senate agrees to the insertion of the word “unanimous” between the word “the” and the word “opinion”.

(2) That the Senate does not insist on the amendment made to Section 20 of the Bill, but strikes out Section 20 and substitutes therefor the following in lieu thereof:—

“20. The Commission shall receive complaints respecting unfair trade practices and may investigate the same and, either before or after an investigation, if of opinion that the practice complained of constitutes an offence against any Dominion law prohibiting unfair trade practices, may communicate the complaint and such evidence, if any, in support thereof as is in the possession of the Commission to the Attorney General of Canada with a recommendation that all persons who are parties or privies to such offence be prosecuted for violation of the applicable Act. The Attorney General of Canada, if he concurs in such recommendation may refer it with such complaint and such evidence, if any, either to the Director of Public Prosecutions or to the Attorney General of the province within which the offence is alleged to have been committed for such action as may seem to be appropriate in the circumstances.”

(3) That the Senate does not insist on its amendment at the end of Line 29 in Section 21.

(4) That the Senate does not insist on its amendment: new Section 28.

(5) That the Senate does insist on the deletion of Section 26 for the reason that said Section contemplates a revision of Dominion Company issues in certain cases by the Dominion Trade and Industry Commission and that consequently such Commission would require a staff of competent experts in this special line to intelligently discharge their duties and that in this regard the Commission would become a duplication of Provincial Commissions already created for similar purposes and clothed with ample power to protect the public in respect of these matters.

Further, the Senate is of opinion that the exercise or non-exercise of the right on the part of the Secretary of State to have such issues reviewed, or not have them reviewed, would be regarded by the Public as the taking of responsibility by the Secretary of State for the capital structures of Companies no matter what safeguards or precautionary provisions are inserted, and that this is most undesirable.

On motion of Mr. Guthrie the amendments made by the Senate to Bill No. 86, An Act to establish a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission, were taken into consideration, and severally agreed to.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bills:—

Bill No. 116, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1936.

Bill No. 122, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1936.

A Message was received from His Excellency the Governor General, desiring the immediate attendance of the House in the Senate Chamber.

Accordingly Mr. Speaker with the House went to the Senate Chamber; when His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to give, in His Majesty's name, the Royal Assent to the following Bills:—

An Act to amend the Soldier Settlement Act.

An Act respecting Canadian Marconi Company.

An Act respecting The Sarnia-Port Huron Vehicular Tunnel Company.

An Act to amend The Dominion Elections Act, 1934.

An Act to amend the Combines Investigation Act.

An Act to provide for the Constitution and Powers of the Canadian Wheat Board.

An Act to establish a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission.

To these Bills the Royal Assent was pronounced by the Clerk of the Senate in the following words:—

“In His Majesty’s name, His Excellency the Governor General doth assent to these Bills.”

Then the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons addressed His Excellency the Governor General as follows:—

“In the name of the Commons, I present to Your Excellency the following Bills:—

To these Bills the Clerk of the Senate, by command of His Excellency the Governor General, did thereupon say:—

“In His Majesty’s name His Excellency the Governor General thanks His Loyal Subjects, accepts their benevolence, and assents to these Bills.”

After which His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to close the Sixth Session of the Seventeenth Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, with the following Speech:—

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

In bringing to a close the last session of the 17th Parliament of Canada I congratulate you upon the extent and importance of your legislative enactments.

My Ministers have for some time been convinced that reforms and adjustments in the existing economic system have become necessary to insure its more effective and equitable operation. Throughout the world there is a new approach on the part of governments to financial and economic problems, and I confidently believe that The Economic Council of Canada, for which you have provided, will in the future become an important factor in the Government service for the correlation of information and scientific investigation.

By The Natural Products Marketing Act, enacted at the last session of Parliament, you provided for investigations into costs, price spreads, trade practices and other matters related to the production, marketing and processing of natural products.

During the present session you have amended that Statute and the Combines Investigation Act; the Companies Act and the Criminal Code; and provided for the establishment of a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission. These measures will insure to investors security against frauds; to the producer and distributor, the elimination of unfair practices, to the consumer higher standards of products, and to the Dominion a condition of healthy competition in industry. The provision made for the appointment of a Director of Public Prosecutions ensures the enforcement of these enactments.

By the legislation enacted respecting minimum wages, hours of work and weekly rest, the Parliament of Canada has made an important advance in the field of social legislation. These measures are of great importance because of their bearing upon economic conditions throughout the country and because they represent Canada's determination to maintain fair and humane conditions of labour for men, women and children in keeping with the national obligations under The Treaties of Peace and the Conventions adopted by the General Conference of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations, to which Canada subscribed.

Through the action of my Government, in co-operation with the financial institutions of the country, Canada enjoys the most favourable interest rates in its history. The provision which you have made for loans to farmers at low interest rates, and the measure which you have enacted during the last session of Parliament respecting farmers' indebtedness have improved their economic condition. The amendments made to these measures during the session will further extend their benefits. You have also made provision for assisting fishermen by establishing a system of long term mortgage credit.

The enactment of the measure relating to Unemployment and Social Insurance will, through the establishment of a national labour exchange service, provide for dealing more effectively with the problem of seasonal and other unemployment, and will afford the means whereby Canadian workers can, with the assistance of the Government, make provision for their own security.

Following a conference with the representatives of all the Provinces my Ministers have decided to appoint a Royal Commission to make a thorough investigation of our national health problems with a view to proposing a definite plan for the co-operation of Federal and Provincial authorities in a National Health policy.

The measures which you have taken to provide for public works and undertakings throughout Canada, to authorize the guarantee of certain railway equipment securities, and to assist in the construction of houses will, it is confidently believed, do much to stimulate industry in the building trades throughout the country and create employment.

The action which you have taken during the past few years to raise prices paid to wheat producers gives effect to the policy adopted at the Empire Economic Conference held at Ottawa and the World Economic Conference held at London. By your action in providing for the Canadian Wheat Board that policy will be continued.

The provisions which you have made for the revaluation of gold and an exchange stabilization fund constitute an important effort to restore normal exchange conditions throughout the world and make possible a greater volume of international trade.

Important amendments have been made to the Income War Tax Act, and provision has been made for the rehabilitation of drouth and soil drifting areas in the Prairie Provinces. Other measures include The Relief Act and An Act to amend and consolidate the acts relating to Patents of Invention.

During the session my Government tabled the additional protocol to the trade agreement between Canada and France, which provides for the extension of further tariff concessions by each country to the products of the other. You have approved a Convention of Commerce between Canada and Poland, by means of which it is hoped to increase the trade between the two countries on mutually advantageous terms. A Modus Vivendi was also concluded with the Republic of Haiti, and the New Zealand trade agreement has been extended.

Members of the House of Commons:

I thank you for the provision you have made for the Public Service.

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

You have reason to rejoice in the proud position which Canada enjoys as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. The world-wide celebrations commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession to the Throne of His Majesty have impressed the whole world with the unity and solidarity of the Empire, the devotion and loyalty of its peoples to the Crown and the extent of its influence for peace and security.

My official connection with Canada is drawing to a close. My interest in the Dominion, however, will not terminate with my departure from its hospitable shores. I shall continue to watch its progress and development with deep and abiding interest and the sincere hope and belief that, under God's Providence, it will ever increasingly prosper.

His Honour the SPEAKER OF THE SENATE then said:

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

It is His Excellency the Governor General's will and pleasure that this Parliament be prorogued until Wednesday, the 14th day of August next, to be here holden, and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued until Wednesday, the 14th day of August next.

JAMES L. BOWMAN,
Speaker.
